Senate Okehs Olson Bill For H. B. Ocean Drilling

RICH, SWING MEASURES DEFEATED

Plan Goes to Assembly Where Chances for Passage Are Good

Ocean drilling in the rich state-owned oil pool off Huntington Beach stood approved by the senate today after the Olson bill was passed by a vote of 22 to 18.

The bill, which provides for drilling by means of piers, groins or islands, now goes to the assembly with a good chance of approval, according to word from Sacramento.

Drilling as provided for in the bill would be confined to the Huntington Beach pool on a stretch of beach extending about two miles above the municipal pier.

Beats Deadlock Approval of the Olson bill came just after the senate had defeated a bill by Senators Swing and Rich which would have permitted drilling into state-owned pools anywhere on the California coast from littoral lands only, and that by means of slant drilled wells. Island or pier drilling would have been prohibited.

The Olson bill vote threatened to be deadlocked for a time, but three senators changed their votes.

Opponents of the Olson bill said the measure would virtually put the state into the oil drilling business. The bill sets up a specific program for the calling of bids to drill into the state oil pool.

Because it restricts leasing to the Huntington Beach area, Attorney-General Webb declared the measure unconstitutional. Senator Olson said he is not worried by such opinion.

30 Per Cent Royalty The state, under the bill, would require a royalty of not less than 30 per cent from any lessee on production over 200 barrels a day. This, it is expected, will be cut to 25 per cent in the assembly. Opponents claimed that this minimum royalty is so high that, except for land next to the beach or parcels in the affected area, the state will receive no bids.

The bill provides that in the absence of bids, the state shall proceed immediately to do the drilling itself in the groins, piers or islands. Private interests own strips of land next to the beach or tidelands, and in order to get out into the water with piers, the bill will permit the state to condemn rights of way or easements across privately owned littoral lands.

FRANCO NAMES SELF DICTATOR SALAMANCA, Spain. (AP)—In-surgent Spain was converted today by Generalissimo Francisco Franco into an authoritarian state, after the pattern of Italy and Germany, with himself as virtual dictator of the territory his armies have wrested from the Spanish government.

By a single sweeping decree yesterday, the generalissimo outlawed all political parties except one under his sole leadership and took over all semi-military organizations as well.

Webb Hits Seal Beach Tango

Tango games, reported to be reopening in Seal Beach tomorrow night, are unlawful, State Attorney General U. S. Webb told The Journal today.

"Tango games are unlawful and have been uniformly so held and so decided. There is nothing pending in the matter and no change in reference to tango games," he replied to a telegram from The Journal asking the present legal status of the games.

District Attorney W. F. Menton, through whom Webb made the reply, said today he warned tango operators last fall that the game is illegal, and at the same time advised the Seal Beach city council not to grant new licenses or renew old licenses for tango games.

The tango parlors voluntarily closed their doors about the time the grand jury was impaneled last November, apparently with some dissension to their ranks.

Gable Fights

Screen lover Clark Gable (above) was the center of interest today in Los Angeles as the government began trial of Mrs. Violet Wells Norton, 47, on charges she attempted to extort money from him for support of her daughter. She assertedly accused Gable of being the father of her child.

SELECT GABLE CASE JURY

Try Woman for Seeking Money From Actor on Paternity Charge

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A federal jury of 12 men was completed today to hear the case of Mrs. Violet Wells Norton, 47, who is accused of naming Clark Gable, handsome screen actor, as the father of her daughter and of demanding money from him.

Mrs. Norton, a plump woman, squirmed and bounced about in her chair during the process. Gable remained in the office of a federal attorney.

The jury selection required just one hour. A possible key to the chief de-

FISH BILL TEST UP TONIGHT

Orange county's fishing preserve bill will either sink or swim tonight.

The bill, presented by Assemblyman Clyde Watson, will come before the assembly fish and game committee at 7:30 o'clock tonight for argument. Fate of the bill depends upon action taken by the committee.

Leslie F. Kimmell, Laguna Beach, president of the Orange County Coast association, who drafted the original bill which was adopted two years ago, left for Sacramento last night to aid in the battle for approval of the proposal.

The bill would create a preserve two miles at sea along the entire county coast closed to purse seiners. A similar act was declared unconstitutional last year on a technicality by the fourth district court of appeals.

STORE HOURS AGREEMENT LOOMS

Long Beach Meet Today May Decide Closing Evenings, Mondays

What course Santa Ana merchants will chart in regard to uniform closing hours hinged today on results of a conference of Southland cities in Long Beach this afternoon.

A new idea in regard to keeping open Saturday night and closing all day or a half day Monday, propounded by Walter Vandermast, found considerable support at a mass meeting of local retailers held this morning in the chamber of commerce offices.

But exactly what will be done in this city depends on the action taken at the meeting of Southland merchants in Long Beach this afternoon, and on another local mass meeting to be called.

More than 60 merchants attended the meeting today, jamming the chamber offices. Following a long discussion of every angle of the closing problem, a standing vote revealed that 24 of the merchants favored remaining open Saturday night and closing all day or a half day Monday. Another vote showed 24 favoring keeping open Saturday night, and another 14 for closing Saturday night.

Several speakers stressed the importance of giving workers more leisure time through shortening store hours, and the desirability of (See STORE HOURS, Page 2)

TICKET FIXING NOW A CRIME

Ticket fixing will be a bad business to mix up in from now on.

Last night the city council gave final reading to a new ordinance which makes it unlawful for anyone to attempt to influence a police officer or the chief of police in the performance of his duties, which includes dishing out traffic tickets.

The ordinance does not apply to persons who have signed promises to appear in court to answer to charges of violations of state laws or city ordinances, or to lawyers. Penalty for violation of the new law is set at a maximum of a $50 fine or five days in the county jail, or both.

Says Aimee Once Threatened Suicide

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Dean Harriet Jordan of Angelus Temple Bible school testified today that Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson once threatened to leap into Grand Canyon.

They were in Phoenix, Ariz., at the time and the blonde evangelist testified at the trial of Miss Semple's $150,000 slander suit against Willard Andrews, present Temple attorney.

"Sister said if I deserted her, she would go down in the Grand Canyon and jump off a horse or nule or something," Miss Jordan testified at the trial of Miss Semple's $150,000 slander suit against Willard Andrews, present Temple attorney.

BREAK COMES OVER CITY ROYALTY

Mayor Warner, Talbert Outvoted in Sudden Council Move

A storm was raging on the Huntington Beach tideland oil pool today, and it engulfed former City Attorney Ray Overacker. Overacker was fired by the city council in a surprise move last night that left Mayor Willis Warner and Councilman Tom Talbert stunned.

Two reasons for the sudden action were hinted. One was the manner in which the city's fight for royalties from the state's tideland oil pool off its shores has been conducted. The other was the expense of the struggle.

Councilman Ari Hendrickson said these things had brought criticism on the heads of the council.

Recently it came to light that an agreement had been made with a firm of outside attorneys, propounded by Walter Vandermast, found considerable support at a mass meeting of local retailers held this morning in the chamber of commerce offices.

But exactly what will be done in this city depends on the action taken at the meeting of Southland merchants in Long Beach this afternoon, and on another local mass meeting to be called.

FORUMS STOP APRIL 30

Orange county federal forums will end their programs and wind up business at the end of April, Frank A. Henderson, city superintendent of schools and forum director, reported today.

Already the speaking force has been curtailed, and the office force has been reduced slightly as the budgeted funds near an end, Henderson said.

Attended by thousands of persons in Orange county, the forum series started Sept. 15, bringing nationally known figures to speak on questions of government, education, and current affairs.

The forum for Orange county was started here by the U. S. commissioner of education, Dr. J. W. Studebaker, with an appropriation of slightly more than $40,000. Of this, Henderson reported, 60 per cent went to relief and WPA workers who handled office work and other duties in connection with the program.

In order to complete reports on the program and wind up the entire project, the relief and WPA workers will continue their duties after the speaking programs end about April 29, according to Henderson.

The forum director said he did not know whether an extension or renewal of the forum project could be obtained. No applications for renewal has been filed, he said.

Whether persons who have enjoyed the forum program will try to continue something of the sort with privately subscribed funds also was not known.

When Dr. Studebaker spoke here on a forum program to outline the hope that it would stimulate thought and interchange of ideas in communities and would provide a model from which the movement could spread.

Kidnaper With Conscience Releases Boy, 5, Unharmed

OAKLAND. (AP)—A conscience-stricken kidnap, who said he released 5-year-old William Grinnell Blodgett, 2nd, because he would rather starve than cause suffering to the boy's parents, was sought today by police and sheriff's deputies.

The boy was missing for five hours yesterday after a young man invited him away from his two playmates and into an automobile. Later, the lad was found with an explanatory note pinned to his clothing.

Captain James Ritchie, sheriff's investigator, said William and Leroy Gardner, 5, and Leroy's sister, Joan, 8, described the kidnap as a smiling young man about 23, of medium height, wearing a gray suit and white shoes.

He appeared at a park where the three children were playing, and with a promise of candy, persuaded William to get into his automobile, a brown roadster, Captain Ritchie reported.

Just before dark William walked into a gasoline station five miles away from home. The attendant, Eddie Rose, found a note pinned to William's clothing, partially directing the finder how to return the boy home.

"I was going to hold this boy for ransom," the note said. "But I decided to go straight."

Another sentence said: "I am in great need, but would rather starve than make his parents suffer."

William's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stewart William Blodgett. They came here recently from St. Paul, Minn., when Blodgett was offered a job as buyer in an Oakland department store.

William was unimpressed by his adventure. "I'm hungry," he told his mother when he was taken home.

Harbor Development Is Favored by Government

SECRET CHECK IS MADE AT NEWPORT

Army Engineer Hopes to Establish Exclusive Yachting Haven

Possibility of development of Orange county's harbor at Newport-Balboa far beyond dreams of the most enthusiastic booster was indicated here today when war department plans for a general yacht harbor for the coast were revealed.

Establishment of a general yacht harbor, to be devoted exclusively to pleasure craft, is favored by Theodore Wyman, jr., U. S. army engineer at Los Angeles, to relieve commercial harbors of interference to shipping by small craft, it was reported.

Sent to Capital Shrouded in greatest secrecy, a survey of all available harbors has been under way for some time, it was reported, with Newport-Balboa, Ventura, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Santa Barbara, El Rey and Wilmington studied as possible sites.

The survey has been completed, it was reported, and has been sent to Washington. It will probably recommend a harbor for the government to improve and maintain, observers said.

Traffic Problem Local observers pointed out that Santa Barbara is too far from the center of metropolitan population to be of use in such a development; that Long Beach and Wilmington offer the traffic problems from which the engineers are trying to escape, and that Santa Monica has proven unsatisfactory as a small boat haven in time of storm and that large sums would be necessary to develop it.

That leaves the county's harbor, upon which $2,000,000 was spent in the last two years, developing it for a pleasure port. No word of official action will be received until the report is handed in to Washington officials, but local residents feel the Newport project will receive top consideration in the plan.

British Vessel Runs Blockade

LONDON. (AP)—The British freighter Seven Seas Spray, steaming from a French port an hour before 27 European nations clamped a men and munitions embargo on warring Spain, ran an attempted Spanish insurgent blockade of besieged Bilbao today. "The whole idea," said the freighter's chief owner, A. J. Pope, "was to show it is possible to get food ships into Bilbao."

But Spanish insurgents at Hendaya reported one of their warships had seized an unidentified merchant ship en route to Bilbao and Santander with a cargo of airplanes, machine guns, rifles and munitions.

And Oslo dispatches reported the capture of the Norwegian steamer Fagerstrand by insurgents in the Straits of Gibraltar. The vessel was reported taken to insurgent headquarters at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco.

Warships Patrol Warships of four nations—Italy, Germany, France and Britain—began on the stroke of last midnight a patrol designed to prevent shipments of men and arms to either side of the Spanish civil war.

Augmenting the naval embargo was a land force guarding French and Portuguese borders against contraband, human and otherwise.

At Bordeaux, France, Capt. J. (Potato) Jones of the British freighter Sarastone awaited orders from his owners after seeking tentative permission from non-intervention officials to sail for Spain.

Turned Back Once His ship, loaded with potatoes, wheat and onions, was turned back in a first attempt to reach Bilbao 10 days ago.

Official sources in London emphasized, as they have in the past, that the Bilbao situation is still "local," a contention on which the government based its refusal to allow British warships to escort British merchant ships into Bilbao. British shipping on the high seas, as before, will be protected. In fact a British warship was reported to have accompanied the Seven Seas Spray within 10 miles of Bilbao today. The government has contended the Bilbao harbor is dangerously mined.

Cuts Down Relief A 25 per cent increase in the membership means that there now are more than 2700 persons in Orange county connected with self-help units in practically every community of the county.

The new program is designed to take relief clients off the SRA rolls and to make them self-supporting. Shepherd said today many of those now joining the cooperatives come from families that are eligible for SRA help, but prefer to work with a cooperative unit to support themselves.

Members of the cooperatives receive an opportunity to earn higher monthly budgets than they get in dole checks from the SRA. Active members draw cash and commodities of every type, including all necessary foodstuffs, clothing and services of all kinds. They raise their own crops and make nearly everything they need.

Make Revisions All products raised or made here go to a central warehouse in Los Angeles, from which the units requisition their needs.

At the county-wide meeting of managers and officials of Orange county cooperatives, the new manual of procedure was discussed and several revisions made.

Those attending the meeting included M. R. Wheelan, national field representative from Washington, D. C.; A. E. Thompson, assistant supervisor of the state setup; Victor Schoch, state field advisor; E. M. Kelly, chief accountant for the state, and Miss Marie Deal, head of the social service department.

SEES DEFICIT ABOVE EARLY ESTIMATES

New Taxes Possibility At Next Session, He Tells Congress

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress for $1,500,000,000 for next year's relief burden today in a message projecting the possibility of new taxes next session.

His special message on relief needs during the 12 months beginning July 1 forecast:

A treasury deficit on June 30 of $2,557,000,000, or $309,000,000 over his January estimate.

A deficit in the 1938 fiscal period ending June 30, 1938, of $418,000,000.

"I propose to use every means at my command to eliminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year," Mr. Roosevelt told the senators and representatives.

Urging economy, the President said he expected to do this by withholding from appropriation for expenditure so far as practicable a "substantial percentage" of the funds available for 1938, and by increasing receipts through liquidation of assets of certain emergency agencies.

Senate leaders of both major parties praised the President's message and pledged cooperation in cutting expenditures.

LABOR POLICY MEET BEGUN

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Perkins made a personal appeal to leaders of capital and labor today to get together on a national policy aimed at reducing the number of strikes and lockouts.

She asked 27 representatives of unions and industry to draft their own program in the light of the supreme court decisions upholding constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act.

Asserting many employers and workers had no experience in collective bargaining, Miss Perkins said, "You who are here today can suggest a plan perhaps which will serve to lessen the tension and minimize the effects of work through misunderstanding by one or the other group."

Citrus Workers Get Union Charter

Orange county packing house workers will receive a union charter from the American Federation of Labor next Friday night, it was announced today.

Norris Stone, chairman of the Central Labor Council, said the charter will be installed at a meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Labor Temple here, Fourth and Birch streets.

Permanent officers of the union will be elected at that time.

Governor Signs Tax Payment Bill

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Governor Merriam today signed the Martin bill extending for two years the time in which to take advantage of the 10-year plan for the payment of delinquent taxes.

The act affects all real estate sold to the state on or before July 6, 1937, for unpaid taxes provided the state has not already disposed of the property.

CITY TO GET NEW ZONING SET-UP

Stringent Regulation To Be Provided in New Ordinance

More stringent regulation of the spread of business establishments over the city was on the horizon today.

Santa Ana's outmoded zoning ordinance, drafted 10 years ago, will be rewritten to conform to modern needs and conditions. The change will affect the entire zoning setup in the city.

Yesterday afternoon the city council received a recommendation from the planning commission, in which City Attorney L. W. Blodgett concurred, asking that the city trustees employ a recognized city planner as planning commission consultant.

Road Problem

The letter, signed by Secretary C. E. Bressler of the planning body, said the consultant is needed to help re-draft the present city zoning ordinance.

Bressler said new roads opening up as through arteries, including West First, Ocean avenue and Flower street, will present a tough zoning problem. He pointed out that the city is operating under a plan set up 10 years ago. The old ordinance, he said, set up too much territory for business and has been amended so much that no one can tell where he stands in regard to zoning. He said there is enough business district set up to take care of a city with a population of 500,000.

To Name Committee

City Attorney Blodgett pointed out that the present zoning ordinance is not clear in its meaning. He urged that the plan for making a study of the zoning problem be considered by the council.

At the formal night session of the council, on motion of Councilman Joseph P. Smith, Mayor Fred C. Rowland was authorized to name a committee to work with the planning commission and Blodgett on the plan for securing services of a planning consultant to make the proposed study. Mayor Rowland named Councilman William Penn and Smith on the committee.

MORE ABOUT GABLE

Defense argument was seen in the question Mrs. Norton's counsel asked the prospective jurors. It was:

"Would the fact that a woman was honorably mistaken in trying to determine paternity of her child prejudice you?"

It would not, the jurors said. Another stock query by defense counsel was whether the venireman had any connection with the motion picture industry. Several said they did not know Gable, had not even seen him on the screen.

The government asked the candidates for the jury box if the type of roles Gable has played in films would influence them. Gable used to play the part of a thoroughly undesirable citizen, given to throwing bombs and talking out of the side of his mouth before he became typed as a screen lover. This would have no effect on their deliberations, the jurors replied.

Gable Up First

Mrs. Norton was dressed in blue. Her daughter, Gwendoline, 13, whom the government charges, said she is Gable's daughter, was not with her.

Gable will be the prosecution's first witness, Jack Powell, assistant federal attorney, said. The film idol's appearance at the federal building precipitated an invasion of women, and deputy marshals prepared to handle a full house.

Witnesses Ready

The government alleges that the 47-year-old woman named Gable as the father of the girl, born of a romance in England in 1922 and 1923.

Four townfolk from Portland, Ore.; Radio Commentator Jimmy Fidler, and Publicity Man Terrell De Lapp were relied on by Prosecutor Powell to complete the government's case in a day or so.

The Oregonians were expected to testify that Gable was selling neckties and lumberjacking in the Pacific northwest at the time Mrs. Norton claimed he was her son in an English country cottage.

CASE CONTINUED

Bad check charges against T. O. Hunt, preferred by Mrs. Ella Warnock, today were continued to April 28 by Justice Kenneth Morrison when Hunt appeared in Santa Ana justice court for preliminary hearing.

Markel, Foe of Loading Zones, May Be Bothered

A loading zone for the rear entrance to a bar on Main street was proposed to the city council yesterday afternoon.

The proposed zone would be smack in front of the office of Jules Markel, who recently objected to the city council on the amount of loading zones and taxi stands in the vicinity of his office.

But the city council deferred action on the proposal until a special committee studying the possibility of eliminating as many loading zones as possible, makes its report to the council.

Elks Quartet to Sing On National Broadcast

Officers of the Santa Ana Elks lodge breathed a happy sigh of relief today.

They received official notice from National Director Monroe Goldstein of the Elks 73rd annual convention, that the Santa Ana Elks double quartet will appear on the convention program.

The local lodge has been planning to send the quartet back, but it was not until today that it was certain they would appear on the program. Now Santa Ana will receive national notice through the quartet, which will be heard in a coast to coast broadcast program. The convention will be held the week of July 11. A committee headed by Joe Harless and Frank Briggs is in charge of raising funds for sending the quartet to the convention.

"Be assured," the letter said, "that we will be more than delighted to feature Santa Ana's double quartet throughout the convention, including the memorial exercises and any other place we can use them to advantage, which includes the great finale of the Elks Rocky Mountain Roundup on Thursday night at the Denver university stadium."

The letter said Orange county's singers will compete for prize money in the national contest. It was suggested that the local quartet concentrate on "Songs of the Range" for the program.

MORE ABOUT OVERACKER

of the pool. This argument was approved by the council.

Trouble appeared on the horizon when Att. Gen. U. S. Webb ruled such a payment would be illegal.

Overacker said today he intended to take action to move on the part of those who do not favor a royalty for the city of Huntington Beach. He said he has a high regard for the council, but the ouster was a surprise to him. He said he always had tried to act for the best interests of the city as a whole and not for any individual group.

The action was taken at an adjourned meeting by a three to two vote. Henrikson made the motion. It was seconded by Councilman Leland Channess. Councilman Arthur Morehouse joined the other two to vote to discharge Overacker. Talbert and Warner voted against the ouster.

Denies Taxes Used

It appeared from developments that the move was a surprise to Talbert and Warner.

In referring to Henrikson's remarks on criticism of the council, Talbert said he had heard criticism, too, but that it was not tax money which had been spent in carrying on the city's fight for royalties. He said the money was a $6000 oil bonus received for the tideland lease three years ago.

Both Talbert and Overacker insisted they and the council had no part in the city's fight for royalties. Mayor Warner seconded these statements.

Argue Over Bill

F. E. Bundy, a spectator, said he had heard criticism of the spending of tax money in the charter and tideland oil move.

Attorney Overacker's bill for $200 for special work on the new charter to be voted on April 29 and for $175 for expenses on trips to Sacramento on the tideland oil royalty fight brought up another argument in the council, but the two bills were finally allowed by unanimous vote.

Overacker has spent most of his life in Huntington Beach and is a graduate of the high school there. He formerly worked in the oil industry there until he was admitted to the bar. Shortly after beginning the practice of law in Huntington Beach he was appointed city attorney by the council, which position he has filled until last night. He also is engaged in the general practice of law, and it was set up in discussion at the council that the city attorney was engaged in other activities, demanding much of his time. At times Overacker has been the only practicing attorney in the beach city.

MORE ABOUT STORE HOURS

higher wages for employees of stores. Walter Swanberger pointed out that there are about 2000 clerks in 400 stores of the city affected by the move, which he said was national in scope and not just a local problem.

Change Inevitable

A committee comprised of H. P. Rankin, chairman, Walter Vandermast, George Kidd, F. A. Jones and Lester Gorden was named to represent Santa Ana at the Long Beach meeting this afternoon.

Merchants agreed that a change from the present situation in regard to store hours is inevitable. There was little opposition to establishing the hours of 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. for every day except Saturday. The difference of opinion was in regard to closing Saturday night. The original proposal was that local stores close at 6 p. m. Saturday. Some merchants feel that this is a Saturday night town, and that considerable loss of business would result from closing Saturday night.

Rest Period

A major issue was injected into the meeting by Rankin, who pointed out that the state legislature now is considering a measure which would make it mandatory to give employees a consecutive rest period of 42 hours. He pointed out that if stores closed at 6 p. m. Saturday, they could not open until noon Monday, and if the closing hour Saturday was 9 p. m. they could not open until 3 p. m. Monday.

He pointed out that in his opinion no law could be passed to set mandatory closing hours, but that economic pressure on merchants would force them to close Mondays if the law is adopted. He said there would be little effect in opening stores at 3 p. m. Monday, and that they might as well stay closed all day.

Ivie Stein presided as chairman of the meeting.

MORE ABOUT RELIEF

a check on appropriations. Senator Byrnes (D., S. C.) told the senate it was his intention to ask that not more than $1,000,000,000 be appropriated for relief.

On the basis of the President's revised estimates, the public debt would climb close to $35,500,000,000 by June 30.

Discussing taxes, Mr. Roosevelt said it had become apparent there is an "immediate need for a careful survey of the present tax structure."

He said the treasury would be prepared by November next to present to congress information as to any loopholes in the revenue laws and "suggestions for such new, or additional, taxes as may be necessary to meet deficiencies, if any, in the revenue laws."

This report will permit congressional committees, Mr. Roosevelt said, to study such information and such suggestions "for the purpose of proposing early in the next session of the congress legislation necessary to remedy defects in the present tax laws."

The chief executive said his new estimate of federal income and spending was "predicated on two highly important conditions."

Two Conditions

"The first," he said, "is the extension of existing taxes which expire this year. The second is the maintenance of appropriations made at this session within the total of the budget estimates. An increase in appropriations would, of course, nullify our efforts to prevent a deficit in 1938."

He said bills being pressed for enactment would commit the government to an expenditure of more than $5,000,000,000, mostly for public works, compared with $500,000,000 he had told congress was necessary for an annual works program.

Bills providing more than $500,000,000 for highways have been introduced, Mr. Roosevelt added, despite the fact that expenditures for this purpose in the last four years have exceeded $1,000,000,000 and existing authorizations for the next two years provide nearly $450,000,000 more.

Referring suddenly to international armament races, the President said, "It is a matter of common knowledge that the principal danger to modern civilization lies in those nations which largely because of an armament race are headed directly towards bankruptcy."

"In proportion to national budgets," he added, the United States is spending a far smaller proportion of government income for armament than the nations to which I refer. It behooves us, therefore, to continue our efforts to make both ends of our economy meet."

After entering into a detailed analysis of revised budget figures, Mr. Roosevelt asked that his relief appropriation for next year be made available early in June "so that its expenditure can be properly planned prior to July first."

Wants Balance

Declaring maintenance of a sound fiscal policy requires careful planning of expenditures and appropriations, the President said it "is impossible to maintain a proper balance between revenues and expenditures unless restraint is exercised."

Then he added that he regarded it as "extremely important that we should achieve a balance of actual income and outgo for the fiscal year 1938, and I appeal to you to join me in a determined effort to bring about that result."

Analysis of tax returns for March, the President said, indicated income taxes would produce $267,200,000 less than forecast in January estimates and that other revenues would fall off $337,000,000—"due in large part to the obstruction of collections by numerous law suits against the government."

Expects Saving

Mr. Roosevelt asserted, however, he expected to save $295,000,000 in current expenditures by eliminating or deferring unnecessary spending.

For the year 1938 he said it was now believed receipts would be $387,000,000 less than anticipated, a reduction of $410,000,000 in the estimate of income taxes being "slightly offset by increases in other receipts."

"And while I recognize," he continued, "many opportunities to improve social and economic conditions through federal action, I am convinced that the success of our whole program and the permanent security of our people demand that we adjust all expenditures within the limits of my budget estimate."

Harbor Dredging Gets Approval

Plans for dredging the west arm of Newport harbor have been approved by the U. S. war department, according to notice given the board of supervisors today.

G-Man in Arson Court Case Here

A G-man came into the picture today in the trial of Edward R. Tabor, Los Angeles capitalist, on charges of arson in connection with the burning of his apartment house in Huntington Beach in 1932.

Henry J. Sloan, agent of the federal bureau of investigation, and at the time of the fire an expert on arson, testified for Tabor's defense today. He was called by Milburn Harvey and Don Harwood, defense attorneys.

Sloan said he talked to John Rose, now an admitted arsonist, shortly after Rose's arrest in connection with the burning, and that Rose told him Tabor had nothing to do with the fire. He said Rose at that time denied his own connection with the fire.

Rose has testified against Tabor, declaring that Tabor offered him $2000 to burn the building.

Espee Hearing To Be Rushed

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—G. Stanley Arnold of San Francisco, member of the federal emergency board named by President Roosevelt to make a report on the complaints of two railway brotherhoods against the Southern Pacific Railway, said today efforts would be made to rush the hearing to completion.

Thirty days have been allotted for the hearing and two other members of the board, Dr. Dexter Keezer, president of Reed College, Portland, Ore., and Charles Kerr, Washington, D. C., lawyer, were expected here today. The dispute involves the right of the various unions to represent the cases of certain members in case of grievances.

CITY TO BUY NEW GRADER AND PUMP

Police Car Purchase Is Also Authorized By Council

Twice the national board of fire underwriters said Santa Ana needed additional fire equipment. So last night, on motion of Fire Commissioner William Penn, the city council announced plans for purchasing a new 1000-gallon fire engine pump.

First news of the plan to buy the new equipment, which is expected to cost around $12,000, was revealed in an exclusive story in The Journal last week following an unannounced session of the city council.

To Buy Grader
The city will advertise for bids for the pump, which will be the biggest in the city's fire system. Specifications for the equipment will be on file in the office of City Purchasing Agent Lloyd Banks.

The city also will purchase a motor grader for use in grading streets, which will cost about $4000. In the past the city has been renting graders, but it is believed that considerable money can be saved by the city owning its own grader.

Authority was granted to rent a grader, and if the council decides to buy one of the new ones, offered by the city last night, the money paid out as rental can be applied on the purchase price. A committee comprised of Councilmen Ernest H. Layton, William Penn, City Engineer J. L. McBride and City Purchasing Agent Banks was named to examine prices and specifications and report back to the council.

New Police Car
Prices on graders were submitted through five local concerns, one from the May-Bemis company for $3778; three from the William F. Lutz company for $4398.16, $4323.29 and $3867.49; one from the Crook company for $3960; one from the Sheppard Tractor and Equipment company for $3898.80, and one from the M. Elitiste company for $4170.

On motion of Police Commissioner Plunkett Bruns, the city authorized the police department to purchase a new Plymouth automobile from O. R. Haan, providing the automobile firm accepts the old Plymouth police car at a trade-in price of $450.

Mrs. Silverthorn and Ralph will return home next week, Newman remaining at the aircraft school in Glendale, where he is a student. On Sunday, she enjoyed a visit from Dr. Henry J. Reynolds and Miss A. Noland of Chicago and Dr. Emma Corner of Los Angeles. After dinner and a drive they all went to call on the E. A. Watsons in Tustin.

Thirty members of the United Presbyterian church missionary society went to Long Beach last Tuesday and Wednesday for a Women's Missionary Presbyterial, hearing an address by the Rev. Mr. William Sutherland of India and enjoying a banquet, a pageant, and interesting programs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lindsay and daughter, Sharon, of Los Angeles spent the week-end with the A. J. McFaddens of 1108 North Main street, and also visited on Sunday with Mr. Lindsay's mother and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, at 315 West Seventeenth street, giving both families opportunity to congratulate Mr. Lindsay on his Sunday birthday.

FORMER S. A. PASTOR IS CALLED

Death from a heart attack last night ended the long ministerial career of the Rev. Dr. E. J. Inwood, 77, of Laguna Beach, who was pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana for four years.

Dr. Inwood succumbed suddenly at 8 o'clock last night as he sat on the edge of his bed, preparing to retire, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. A. Armstrong, of Laguna. He suffered a heart attack two weeks ago, but apparently had been recovering satisfactorily.

A native of England, Dr. Inwood last June retired after preaching for 55 years. He was a charter member of the Southern California conference of the Methodist church and at one time was chairman of the conference board of trustees.

District Leader
He served as pastor of the Santa Ana church from 1912 to 1916, and from 1916 to 1922 he was superintendent of the Long Beach district of the church. In 1922 he took over the pastorate of the Belmont Heights church which he held until his retirement. Other pastorate held prior to 1912 were at Redlands and Riverside.

Dr. and Mrs. Inwood went to Laguna upon his retirement, and moved recently to their daughter's home while their own residence was under repair.

Besides Mrs. Inwood, he is survived by his daughters, Mrs. Armstrong, a teacher in Long Beach Junior college, and Mrs. H. C. Brown of Santa Ana, president of the fourth district of the Parent-Teacher association; a son, Richard, architect of Laguna; and three grandchildren, Edwin and Jeanette Armstrong and Robert Brown.

He also leaves three brothers, the Rev. Alfred Inwood of Long Beach and two others who are ministers in the Wesleyan church of England. Dr. Inwood visited his old home in England two years ago.

Because there is no church of his denomination in Laguna, Dr. Inwood and his family affiliated with the First Methodist church here Easter Sunday.

Funeral services are to be conducted at the First Methodist church of Long Beach at 2 p. m. Friday, followed by burial in Inglewood Memorial park cemetery.

Seek to Trade Trust Property

H. L. Eustick and Margaret Eustick, trustees for Harriett Matilda Nicholson, today asked the superior court here to decide whether they have the right to trade property which they hold in trust.

They said the trust now consists of $300 in cash and a large residence in Panorama Heights. The property is difficult to rent and is worth about $40 per month, they said.

They have not been able to find cash purchasers, but Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Lykke of Santa Ana are willing to trade two houses and lots in Santa Ana for it, according to the complaint.

Dora Wing Bourbier, Amanda E. Wahley and Melville F. Wing, beneficiaries under the trust in the event of the death of Harriett Matilda Nicholson, the principal beneficiary, are named as defendants.

Gets Suit for Daughter's Custody

Roy S. Loomis, Buena Park, today started suit in superior court here to gain exclusive custody of his four-year-old daughter, Lorena Mae Loomis.

He charged that when he came to Orange county in Sept. 1936, from Oregon, he did so for the child's health, but that his wife, Louise R. Loomis, refused to come.

Mrs. Loomis, he alleged, is not a proper person to have custody of the child. His complaint was drawn by Stephen F. Gallagher, Anaheim attorney.

Getting Weighed Costs Woman $40

Getting weighed cost Mrs. J. W. Stone, 124 West Third street, more than a penny.

Mrs. Stone told police yesterday afternoon a purse containing between $30 and $40 had been lost, perhaps when she got on a scales near Fourth and Main streets.

PEACE DISTURBED

Charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace, David Campos, 27 Placencia and Ray Cruz, 32, route 4, Anaheim, were booked at the county jail last night by Chief Gus Barnes and Officer Howard Lucy of the Placencia police department.

Townsend Clubs

All persons interested in the Townsend movement are cordially invited to attend any of the club sessions, particularly those of the clubs in their own neighborhoods. Members are also urged to turn out regularly.

Club No. 6 will have its regular meeting a half-hour early tonight, meeting at 7 instead of 7:30, in the community hall of the Christian church. A. M. maps will be the speaker, and all Townsends are specially invited.

City Council Notes

The city council last night: Granted permission to Eugene Wood, 24, of 118 North Van Ness street, to transfer his taxicab driver's license from the Broadway to the Courtesy Cab company.

Gave permission to hang electric signs to the Associated Oil company at 319 South Main, Santa Ana Wine and Liquor Spot at 927 South Main, Robbins-Henderson Insurance company at 107 West Fifth street, Lincoln Hotel at 305 1/2 Spurgeon street, and M. Elitiste and company at 310 East Fifth street.

Received a legislative bulletin from the California League of Municipalities containing information on the status of several bills of interest to city officials.

Deferred action on a request that the council endorse assembly bill 252, which would appropriate $5,000,000 for a state exhibit building at the Golden Gate International exposition in 1938.

Pair Faces Holdup Charges Thursday

Laurel Burns and John Gray, youthful accused holdup men, will face preliminary hearings on three counts of robbery Thursday.

Thursday morning the two men, captured early Saturday after a gun battle in a Tustin orchard, will face a hearing on a charge of holding up Marie's cafe, Doheny Park, before Justice John Landell at the June Capistrano.

Thursday afternoon they will have a hearing on two other counts of robbery, resulting from the holdup the Monday before of a Huntington Beach cafe. Los Angeles officers also want the two men, the sheriff's office reported today, for auto theft. They asserted they were driving a car stolen from Long Beach at the time of their capture.

START WATER SPREADING MAY 1

After leaping the hurdles from here to San Diego to San Francisco to Washington, D. C. and back again twice, the Orange county water district's long-sought spreading project will be launched on May 1.

Dan Mulherson, chief of the WPA construction division here, yesterday announced approval of allocation of funds with which to start work on the water spreading project on the Santa Ana river. Seven men will be given work on the project, which will cost the government $6127 and the sponsor $700.

Considerable confusion ensued over this project when a San Diego district WPA official heard that the project was not a worthwhile venture. Directors of the water district soon corrected that impression as the former project had been halted and the new project was approved.

Mulherson also announced that funds have been allocated for three other WPA projects in the county, including the big project sponsored by Santa Ana for completion of the West Seventeenth street storm drain. This project will cost the government $34,792 and the city of Santa Ana $20,431, employing 141 men.

The government also allocated $2300 for the Seal Beach storm drain project for improvement of Santa Ana street in Anaheim, at a cost of $8923 to the WPA and $14,913 to the sponsor. This project will give work to 11 men.

Packing House Men To Meet at Anaheim

Anaheim city park was tentatively set today as the place where citrus packing house managers of Orange county will meet Thursday afternoon to discuss standardization problems.

Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs said today the meeting will be held in the Anaheim park if the Anaheim city council approves the application for the meeting tonight.

The meeting of the packing house managers was called by Tubbs for the purpose of discussing standardization work for the Valencia season, which opened last week when several houses started picking and packing operations.

Tubbs attended a conference of agricultural commissioners of Southern California with State Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock yesterday in Los Angeles. Standardization of valencias was discussed at the session, and it was agreed that inspection of fruit will be made by the transverse cut method.

These have more vitamins and better flavor

BECAUSE COOKED THE MODERN WAY — WITH GAS!

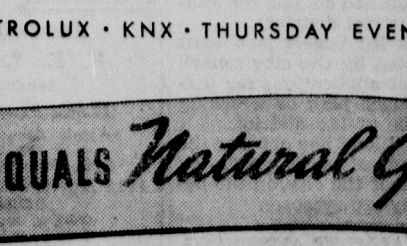

The fuel you use in cooking makes a difference in healthfulness and flavor! Many people say vegetables should be cooked with a minimum of water. With this method, vitamins are retained, the fiber of the vegetable is not broken down, and flavor is improved.

Such "waterless" cooking requires a heat which can be turned down so low that the natural moisture remains in the food. Gas alone can be adjusted to give you just the degree of heat you may require. And it saves you money; it's the lowest in cost of all practical fuels.

Have you seen the 1937 ranges? They not only cook better — they look better, too. Inspect them in the display rooms of your dealer or your gas company.

COURT BILL SURRENDER HINTED

Opponent Says It Will Pass If F. D. R. Can Make Compromise

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A leader of the senate opposition to the Roosevelt court bill said today the measure would pass if the president would accept two, instead of a potential six, additional supreme court justices.

The senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said a modification would win over enough Democrats who want to "get right" with their party leader and their constituents to pass the bill. It was the first time any of the leading opponents of the hotly contested measure had agreed it could be enacted with a provision for any increase in the size of the supreme court.

Opposition leaders heretofore have insisted they had a solid block of 43 votes against the bill—and that no measure could pass the senate with that many fighting opponents.

Harlow, Taylor Co-Starred in Broadway Movie

Right from the arms of Garbo, Robert Taylor stepped into the embrace of Jean Harlow.

The two are starred for the first time together in the comedy drama, "Personal Property," now showing at the Broadway theater on a double program with "Midnight Taxi." Taylor has the role of a ne'er-do-well son of an English family who becomes butler in the house of his brother's fiancée, a widow from Iowa, in the comedy drama. In co-starring Miss Harlow with Taylor, who recently completed the role of Armand in "Camille," the studio has teamed two of its greatest box-office attractions.

The screen play of the picture is based on the stage hit "Man in Possession." Reginald Owen, Una O'Connor, E. E. Clive and Henrietta Crosman head the list of featured players.

"Midnight Taxi" tells the story of secret and ruthless gang of counterfeiters and a government agent who attempts to trap them. Brian Donlevy and Francis Drake have the leading roles, and the cast includes Alan Dinehart, Gilbert Roland, Sig Ruman and many other film notables.

Drop Plan for New Awning Ordinance

The city council last night abandoned consideration of adopting a new ordinance regulating the awning business in this city.

Councilman Wm. Penn reported for an investigating committee, and said the present city ordinance is deemed satisfactory. He recommended that no change be made, and the council approved the recommendation.

Some time ago the council had been asked by an awning contractor here to consider an ordinance similar to the one in operation in San Bernardino, which requires posting of a $1000 bond before an awning contractor can operate. Penn said an investigation revealed that the high bond caused a raise in the cost of awnings and was detrimental to the public welfare.

Naturalization Deadline Set

World War veterans who wish to become naturalized under easy terms have only until May 25 to file applications, Franklin Davis, immigration and naturalization officer, warned here today.

Naturalization is offered to veterans of the United States and the allied forces under the World War veterans naturalization act provided they lived in the United States prior to the war.

As May 25 is the final date for petitions, applications should be presented well in advance of that date, Davis said. His office, where he will aid applicants, are in the postoffice building in Santa Ana.

Masterpiece Brings $87,500

LONDON, (AP)—A bid of $87,500 bought the painting "Dutch Courtyard," by Pieter de Hooch, an early Dutch master, in an auction of treasures from the house of Rothschild yesterday.

Furnishings of the Rothschild home, one of the most famous mansions in London, went under the auctioneer's hammer because its present owner, Victor Rothschild, is interested primarily in science and prefers living near Cambridge university. The house was built in 1865 by Baron Lionel Nathan de Rothschild.

Council Restricts Junk Yard Area

No more junk or wrecking yards will be established outside the Santa Ana industrial district.

City Clerk Ed Vegely last night was instructed by the city council not to accept applications for permits to conduct junk or wrecking yards outside of the district.

The council long has opposed the establishment of such yards on main streets of the city, in the belief that they are eyesores.

President's Relief Message Text

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's relief message to congress today:

To the Congress of the United States:

In my budget message of Jan. 5, 1937, I said that I would transmit at a later date an estimate of appropriation for work relief for the fiscal year 1938. In connection with this estimate it is desirable to review our present fiscal situation.

Budget estimates made last December indicated a net deficit for the current fiscal year of $2,248,000,000. They also indicated a net surplus for the fiscal year 1938 of $1,537,000,000 exclusive of any provision for a work relief appropriation.

On the basis of these estimates, therefore, an appropriation for work relief for the fiscal year 1938 of any sum less than $1,537,000,000 would have left at the end of that year a budget in balance.

Since then, however, new factors have so altered the fiscal situation as to make it necessary to present revised estimates of receipts and expenditures. There is attached to this message a statement showing the present estimates for the fiscal years 1937 and 1938 as compared with the estimates in my budget message. A glance at this statement will show that the principal factor is the decline in tax receipts below our previous expectations.

Fiscal Year 1937

The analysis of returns received in March 1937 under the new tax law indicates that income taxes will produce $267,200,000 less than the former estimate for the fiscal year 1937. The receipts for the first nine months of this fiscal year indicate that other revenues will be $337,000,000 less than the estimate which is due largely in part to the obstruction of collections by numerous lawsuits against the government.

In view of the reduction in revenue it became apparent that every effort should be made to offset this loss as far as possible by a reduction in expenditures. To this end I have directed the heads of various government activities to make a careful examination of their expenditure requirements for the last three months of the present fiscal year, with a view to making substantial savings by eliminating or deferring all expenditures not absolutely necessary during this period, the money so saved to revert to the treasury. Information thus far available indicates that the 1937 expenditures will probably be $295,000,000 less than the estimate of last January.

The amount of the net deficit for the fiscal year 1937 is therefore estimated at $2,557,000,000, an increase of $309,000,000 over the January estimate.

Fiscal Year 1938

For the fiscal year 1938 it is now believed that receipts will be $387,000,000 less than was anticipated last January, the reduction of $410,000,000 in the estimate of income taxes being slightly offset by increases in other receipts.

Pending the enactment of the 1938 appropriation bills it has been impossible to make any material revision of the estimates of expenditures for that fiscal year, other than for recovery and relief.

The revised estimates of receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1938 as here presented indicate an estimated net deficit of $418,000,000. There is included in the estimates of expenditures the $1,500,000,000 for work relief hereinafter recommended.

I propose to use every means at my command to eliminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year. I expect to accomplish this by taking definite action at the beginning of the next fiscal year (1) to withhold from apportionment for expenditure in so far as possible with due regard to proper functioning of the executive departments and agencies a substantial percentage of the funds available for that year, and (2) to increase the receipts of the treasury through the liquidation of assets of certain of the emergency agencies.

Two Conditions

I regard it as extremely important that we should achieve a balance of actual income and outgo for the fiscal year 1938, and I appeal to you to join me in a determined effort to bring about that result.

What I have said is predicated on two highly important conditions. The first is the extension of existing taxes which expire this year. The second is the maintenance of appropriations made at this session within the total of the budget estimates. An increase in appropriations would, of course, nullify our efforts to prevent a deficit in 1938.

And while I recognize many opportunities to improve social and economic conditions through federal action, I am convinced that the success of our whole program and the permanent security of our people demand that we adjust all expenditures within the limits of my budget estimate.

I emphasize here what I said last January with respect to our fiscal policy:

"Expenditures must be planned with a view to the national needs; and no expansion of government activities should be authorized unless the necessity for such expansion has been definitely determined and funds are available to defray the cost. In other words, if new legislation imposes any substantial increase in expenditures either in the expansion of existing or in the creation of new activities, it becomes a matter of sound policy simultaneously to provide new revenue sufficient to meet the additional cost."

Bills being pressed for enactment during the present session would commit the government to early expenditures of more than $5,000,000,000. About $3,000,000,000 of these expenditures are for the creation of additional public works, even though there are existing authorizations of almost $2,000,000,000 for this purpose. In the budget for the past three years I have set up a program for general public works and have often said that such a program should be kept within the limit of $500,000,000 a year. An annual program of this size should meet normal needs for highway, flood control, rivers and harbors, reclamation, federal buildings, and other public works.

I recognize the need for flood prevention and control, but it should be realized that to finance such large immediate expenditures as are contemplated by the majority of the flood control bills now pending in the congress would impose an unjustifiable burden upon the federal treasury.

Bills involving additional authorizations of more than $500,000,000 for highways have been introduced despite the fact that expenditures for this purpose during the last four years have exceeded one billion dollars and that there are existing authorizations for expenditures during the next two years of nearly $450,000,000.

Careful Planning

The maintenance of a sound fiscal policy requires the careful planning of authorizations as well as appropriations. It is impossible to maintain the proper balance between revenues and expenditures unless restraint is exercised with respect to authorizations and appropriations. It is a matter of concern to you and to me who are working for a balanced budget that so many special groups exert the strongest pressure to bring about increases in government expenditures. They pay little attention to the fact that the budget, as submitted, represents a coordinated fiscal program and that material departures therefrom destroy the whole purpose of the program. If we are to avoid a continuation of deficits, we must resist these importunities or provide the necessary revenues to meet the increasing costs.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the principal danger to modern civilization lies in those nations which largely because of an armament race are headed directly toward bankruptcy. In proportion to national budgets the United States is spending a far smaller proportion of government income for armaments than the nations to which I refer. It behooves us, therefore, to continue our efforts to make both ends of our economy meet.

Survey of Tax Structure

It has become apparent that there is an immediate need for a careful survey of the present tax structure. The treasury will be prepared by November, next, to present to the appropriate committees of the congress information as to such loopholes as may exist in the present revenue laws, and suggestions for such new or additional taxes as may be necessary to meet deficiencies, if any, in the revenue-producing power of the present levies. This will permit these committees to study such information and suggestions for the purpose of proposing early in the next session of the congress legislation necessary to remedy defects in the present tax laws.

Work Relief

I recommend that an appropriation of $1,500,000,000 be provided for work relief for the fiscal year 1938, and that it be made available early in June so that its expenditure can be properly planned prior to July first.

'INVISIBLE RAY' DUE AT STATE

Two menaces of the screen, Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi, play the leading roles in "The Invisible Ray," coming to the State theater Wednesday for an engagement of two days. The picture tops a double bill, the second feature of which is "As You Like It," with Elisabeth Bergner as the star.

"The Invisible Ray" is the story of two rival scientists who seek to outdo each other in their field of endeavor. Karloff discovers a new ray a thousand times more powerful than radium and uses it to exterminate his enemies, but an accident causes him to fall a victim of the ray himself.

Romantic interest in the story is supplied by Frank Lawton and Frances Drake. "As You Like It," is brought to the screen with a cast of continental players, headed by Miss Bergner. Others in the cast include Laurence Olivier, Sophie Stewart and Henry Ainley.

A cartoon completes the program.

Chinese Bandit Dragged From Hospital, Slain

PEIPING, (AP)—Dragged from a hospital bed by police executioners, Liu Yung-Ho, notorious Chinese robber, was shot and killed yesterday at the "bridge of Liu" was wounded last month in a gun battle with police. Although condemned to die, he was permitted to enter a hospital for treatment and his execution delayed. His recovery was slow, however, and authorities eventually decided they could not pay his hospital bills indefinitely.

Monday they ordered his immediate execution and carried him to the bridge inside the Chinese city. There he was shot in the back of the head.

One by one, the boys he has counted on are leaving the big of Manager "Doc" Smith. The cheerful, chipper, however, has a deep-seated disgust for crying towels, and is going about his work determined to field an upper-division nightball aggregation against Long Beach here May 11.

The loss of three pitchers and three outfielders has been partially offset by the splendid hitting of the rookies and veterans he has managed to retain. Seven of them are above the .333 figure, four are .400 or better, and one of them, Rookie Bob Mott, is swinging at the remarkable clip of .500.

Mott, southpaw first-baseman, collected three hits in his very first game for the Stars at San Bernardino. At Colton he smashed a couple of triples into deep left field, and on Tuesday drove out a home run, triple and single. Eight hits in 16 trials! Yes, it seems as if the husky veteran, Nan Coats, will be forced off the initial sack into right field or behind the plate.

Who is worth fifty grand in major league baseball?

That question was recently put to Manager Rogers Hornsby and Owner Donald Barnes of the St. Louis Browns, after Jerome (Dizzy) Dean of the Cards and Lou Gehrig of the Yanks had been unsuccessfully asked for $50,000.

Such salaries have no place in organized baseball, they answered, but both agreed Gehrig was closer to the figure than "Diz."

Reason: "Fellows like Gehrig work every day, play in 140 or 150 games. A pitcher doesn't work on an average more often than once every four days."

Gentleman Joe Varga, who is developing into a pretty fair actor as a referee for the grunting-and-groaning industry here, got a good wise-crack last night. "Joe kept pulling Tommy Marvin off Rudy Strongberg for fouling while the latter was winning his first fall with a body press in 16 min. 31 secs. 'Hey, Varga,' shouted one of the fans, 'you would have had a hard time winning that fall from Marvin unless Strongberg had helped you a little.'"

Bruins Rated Over Trojan Trackmen in Four Events

LOS ANGELES.—Although the University of Southern California track and field team will be heavily favored to defeat the C. L. A. squad when they meet Saturday in the Coliseum here, Coach Harry Trotter's Bruins will give the Trojans an interesting battle in most of the events, and in at least three of them the Westwood boys appear to have clinch first places.

Bob Young, member of the American Olympic 1600-meter relay team, will be heavily favored to win the 440 for U. C. L. A., while Bill Reitz, the West's leading college javelin thrower this season, and Milton Tyndal, star, are expected to take their events. If Young doubles in the 220-yard dash, he is also conceded

Morrill, Bushman Hurl for Stars Tonight

DASH NINE ON LONG BEACH AT BOWL

Smith Juggles Lineup in First Home Stand; No Admission Charge

Under the bright lights of the Municipal bowl at 8 o'clock tonight, softball fans will get their first "preview" of Santa Ana's Stars. They go up against the Dash independents of Long Beach in their fourth practice game of the season with a new pitcher—Earl Morrill from Covina.

Morrill and Al Bushman, the former Orange and Anaheim gunner, are all that remain of New-Manager "Doc" Smith's hurling staff. Ira DeBusk, the Irvine recruit who was nicked hard in three practice games, quit the club yesterday to accept a job in the oil fields. Ray Hodgson has gone back to Irvine, and Jim Coates, the No. 1 chucker of them all, is in Visalia ready to pitch for the San Joaquin Valley leaguers.

Tonight's game will be open to the public without charge, Smith announced.

Santa Ana lost to Colton, 5-4, but defeated Santa Bernardino, 6-4, and Ontario, 12-7, in three games away from home. The Stars have compiled 40 hits for an average of 13 a game to indicate they have the plate power. All they apparently need is the pitching.

Morrill, who will share time on the mound with Bushman, is bringing a new outfielder from Covina by the name of Hix, who may start in leftfield instead of Russ Porter, the recruit from Whittier. Manager Smith will lead off, alternating in centerfield and at second base. Tommy Young will be at third base, Nan Coats in right field, Charley Comstock at shortstop, Bomo Koral behind the plate, Porter or Hix, in leftfield, George Preble or LeRoy Levens at second, and Morrill on the hill. Levens probably will start in place of Preble.

Huntington Beach makes the long hop to San Bernardino tonight. Joe Rodgers' Southern California champions are unbeaten after four games. They have lost George Eckenroth, the Arizona university athlete, to Indio, but Rodgers retains two better pitchers in Elwyn (Fuzzy) Errington, Westminster's '36 star, and Frank (Chico) Sabella, Oiler mainstay before the advent of Louie (The Great) Neva.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—George Salvadore, Texas Mexican, will risk his claim to the lightweight championship of the Southwest when he meets Young Peter Jackson, Los Angeles negro, in a 10-round bout at the Olympic auditorium tonight.

In a second 10-rounder, Tony Chavez, local Mexican favorite, will encounter Danny London, New York featherweight.

Yesterday's Stars

Morris Aronovich and Bucky Walters, Phillies—Aronovich hit eleventh inning homer to beat Bees in first game; Walters pitched four-hit shutout for 1-0 victory in second.

Almon Williams and Earle Brucker, Athletics—Williams held Senators to four hits in 7½ innings; Brucker drove in winning run in tenth.

Tom Berkeley and Fred Anderson of the Bruins are given a chance to run one-two in the low hurdles, as Leland LaFond, best of the Trojan low stick men, is still out of track with a pulled leg muscle, and Earl Vickery and Lucian Wilson, best remaining Trojans in this event, have not yet come up to the marks made by the Bruin speedsters.

Di Maggio Watches Yankees Against Senators Today

NEW YORK. (AP)—His tonsils just an unpleasant memory, Joe Di Maggio of San Francisco, star sophomore outfielder for the New York Yankees, said he would attend the opener between the Yanks and Washington Senators today, if it were warm enough.

Joe left the hospital yesterday and believes the removal of his tonsils will mean a quick cure for his ailing right arm.

Full of pep Joe said: "I ought to get back in that lineup in a few days at the latest."

(By the Associated Press)

Outfielders James Graves and Ashley Joerndt were released today by Manager Lefty O'Doul of the San Francisco Seals on receipt of word from the New York Yankees that they were sending a right-handed batter and thrower named Longacre to the aid of the Seals.

Longacre leaves New York today, and will join the Seals in Seattle the end of the week. The Seals open against Seattle in a seven-game series today, weather permitting. The weatherman predicted possible showers for the Puget sound area.

Portland, 1936 champions, which has had its ups and downs, mostly down, since the start of the '37 season, opens in Portland against the Los Angeles team, San Diego, holding the league leadership by virtue of half a game over Seattle, plays the Sacramento Solons. The Los Angeles-Portland, San Francisco-Seattle games open the 1937 Coast league season for Pacific northwest fans.

Mat Villains Lose Twice on Fouls

(By the Associated Press)

Boston's Bull Martin, 245-pound rougher who delights in swinging the crowd against him, was disqualified in 9 min. 29 secs. for unnecessary roughness at the 101 arena mat wars last night. He was ordered out of the ring so quickly the fans had no time to judge the class of the newcomer from Mexico, Jose Murgina. The purple-trunked behemoth was backed into his corner early in the bout.

Murgina, a 160-pounder, took the Bull's legs, wrapped them at right angles along the ropes, and gave him a sharp blow in the chest. Martin was pewed no little at this treatment, and began taking his spite out on "Gentleman Joe" Vargas, as well as his Mexican adversary.

After flooring the "ref" a couple of times, the raging Martin stormed up the aisle with a flock of fans at his heels. Near the dressing room he engaged in a mild riot with Tommy Marvin, the Oklahoma bruiser who was awaiting his semi-final match with Rudy Strongberg.

With the fans settled back in their seats again, and Martin in the dressing room, Strongberg and Marvin set to work on a two-out-of-three fall match that ended in the disqualification of Marvin after they had divided the first two falls. Strongberg, who stepped into the ring with a sun-tan that caught the eye of the feminine fans, placed a body press on the Oklahoma in 16 min. 31 secs. Marvin came back in the second fall to win with a head press in 14 min. 42 secs, and was getting the best of the third fall when he made the mistake of kicking Referee Vargas clear across the ring. Vargas raised the hand of Strongberg.

Tiny Roebuck, the human truck who tips the Fairbanks at 295 pounds, substituted for Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine in the main event, but was simply out of his class against Hans Steinke, the German heavyweight champ. Steinke toyed with the Indian giant before laying him on the canvas with a body pin in 16 min. 10 secs. Roebuck fell the victim of a deadly toe hold in the second fall, and was flipped over on his back in 6 min. 43 secs. His left knee swollen, he remained in the ring nursing his wounds while Steinke, who had little more than a work-out, headed for the dressing rooms.

Applying hard body slams, Young "Stetcher" had "Cyclone" Franco groggy in the curtain-raiser, and twice forced his raven-haired rival out of the ring and up the aisles. The "Cyclone" came roaring back for more until the Orange county youth caught him in an airplane spin and ended the one-fall-to-a-finish bout in 21 min. 3 secs. Stetcher displayed even more aggressiveness than in a hectic draw with Franco last week.

Speedboat Regatta Dates Are Fixed

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A. L. Cline, commodore of the Southern California Outboard association, today announced dates of six speedboat regattas.

They were: Lake Elsinore, May 16; Long Beach, June 6; Fifth Annual Gold Trophy regatta, Long Beach, July 18; Southwestern sectional championships, Long Beach, Aug. 8.

The Pacific coast hydroplane and national runabout championships, he said, will be conducted Sept. 5 and 6 either on Mend Lake, Boulder Dam or in the Long Beach marina stadium. The annual mid-winter regatta has been set for Dec. 5 at a site not yet determined.

Braddock Begins Gymnasium Drill

CHICAGO. (AP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight champion, will add gymnasium drill to tomorrow to his roadwork routine in preparation for his bout June 22 at Comiskey park with Challenger Joe Louis.

Manager Joe Gould is expected to arrive today and select a permanent training camp for the champion. Louis' co-managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, are considering several sites for the brown bomber to begin his conditioning campaign.

Women of Russia are showing an unusual interest in spring styles.

SOLONS MISS PITCH FROM PRESIDENT

F.D.R. Record Marred As Ball-Thrower-Outer; Athletics Win, 4-3

(By EDDY GILMORE)

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Hurler F. D. Roosevelt—a converted third baseman from Groton—nursed today his first defeat as a lucky ball-thrower-outer for the Washington Senators.

Until yesterday, the big right-hander had a perfect record. Four times he flung out the opening day baseball at Griffith stadium, and four times the local nine came out atop on the scoreboard.

The President was getting a little chummy over his performance. Last year he commented on how the capital club always won behind him.

The ball players, steeped in superstition, shouted the same thing to one another. You could see this overconfidence in each tanned face as the team lined up before their chucker's flag-draped box.

Right-hander Roosevelt took a shiny ball from Manager Harris. Thirty-two thousand fans and the Washington and Philadelphia teams watched.

Using a two-fingered-thumb grip—perfect form for a fast ball—he drew back his arm and let fire.

The throw wasn't a side-arm heave. It was a stab pitch. The ball went twirling and then came diamond disaster—a triple fumble.

Three Washington stalwarts got their trained fingers on the ball, but it eluded them. Finally Third Baseman Buddy Lewis came up with it.

The season's first fumble—a bad sign.

The rest is history. The Philadelphia club beat the home boys 4 to 3, despite the fact that right-hander Roosevelt stayed in the box the whole 10 innings.

His fumble didn't spoil his day. When an airplane towing a banner—"Play the game; don't pack the court"—circled the field, he laughed heartily.

Anyhow, his record is four won and one lost.

"Which," said Manager Harris, "is pitching .800 baseball. Give me another flogger like that, and I'll grab the pennant."

Angels' Infielder Leads With .406 Batting Average

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Bill McWilliams, Los Angeles' slugging third baseman, slung his bat into place into the Pacific coast batting lead last week with a mark of .406.

Averages released today showed McWilliams advanced despite his loss of 19 points. Ruppert Thompson of San Diego lost .29 points, but stayed in second place with .400, and Dick Cyselman, Seattle infielder, gained .29 points and forged into third place with Pete Coscarart of Portland. They are battling .397.

Seattle's Indians are leading the circuit in team batting with a .297 average, which includes games of last Sunday. Los Angeles is sixth with .279, San Diego last with .265.

New Orleans Club Sold to Governor

NEW ORLEANS. (AP)—A deal was closed yesterday for sale of the New Orleans Southern association baseball team to Gov. Richard W. Leche, Mayor S. Maestri and a group of business men for $155,000. The franchise and grounds went with the deal.

Baseball Writers Predict Pennants For Yanks, Cards

NEW YORK. (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals' "Gas House Gang" are the choices of the sports writers in major league cities to win the pennants this year.

In spite of the fact that they topped the National league in 1936, New York's Giants run a bad second to the Cards in the annual Associated Press poll. There's no doubt about the Yanks, however, as the vote was more than 4 to 1 in their favor over all American league rivals combined.

Figuring perhaps on another good year by Dizzy Dean and considerable aid from Lon Warneke, 62 writers picked the Cards for first place while only 28 picked the Giants. In the American 87 votes were cast for the Yanks to win, 10 for the Detroit Tigers and nine more were scattered among three other teams. The big form-reversal predictions were the naming of Cleveland's Indians, fifth last year, for the third notch and the dropping of the Chicago White Sox to fifth.

Sports Roundup

(By EDDY GILMORE)

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Gas House Gang must be softening up what with Terry Moore, one of the charter members, going in for oil painting. . . . Tut, Tut. . . . Those who know what's going on in the game say you needn't worry about Don Budge turning pro until 1939. . . . Frank Thomas, Alabama's chubby grid coach, is down with the mumps. . . . The Broadway crowd hears the Yankees paid Tommy Henrich 25,000 iron men for his signature.

Cleveland's share of the 31,486 crowd that saw Sunday's Hubbell-Feller duel was about $7500, enough to more than pay half of Feller's salary of $10,000 per. Baseball writers estimate 100,000 people attended the 19 games between the Giants and the Indians and that 60,000 of these were at the five games Feller worked. No wonder President Alva Bradley of the Indians is taking the loss of Henrich standing up. . . . How did you like that 1:43 mile that Derby candidate Sceneshifer turned in at Churchill Downs yesterday?

Note to American league pitchers: The paralysis has disappeared from Lou Gehrig's finger and he'll be back in there, starting today. . . . Coach Ossie Solem is delighted with the new grid talent at Syracuse. One guess is sophomore will get the call over vets this fall (if the competition is close) as part of Solem's building program for 1938-39. . . . Gertrude Ederle, the English channel swimmer, was soaked a dollar in traffic court yesterday for illegal parking. . . . They've got a big surprise ready for Bob Feller when he goes back to Iowa May 14 to get his high school sheepskin.

Pacific Coast league is baseball's most far flung circuit. It covers 1675 miles from the northern tip to the southern. Longest jump in the majors is from Boston to St. Louis around 1200 miles. . . . Max Baer's relatives-in-law in Ithaca, N. Y., are the latest to concede Maxie is all washed up as a fighter. . . . Minnesota's famous passing combination Andy Uram to Ray King—is passing up spring practice for baseball. . . . Fight managers are looking over Ray Matulewicz, Duke middleweight, who won the Southern conference and N. C. A. A. titles the past two seasons. . . . He's about ready to blossom out as a light heavyweight.

The story tellers are busy with tales about Frank Mt. Pleasant, former Carlisle football star, who died at Buffalo the other day. . . . One is that when the Carlisle scout (or whoever it was that plucked Frank off the Tuscarora reservation) found him, he was all tugged out in full Indian regalia. . . . On the train, Frank demanded and received a suit of paleface clothes. . . . Thereupon he doffed his head gear, rubbed off his war paint, chucked his Indian duds out of the train window and never put them on again as long as he lived.

Seattle's Indians are leading the circuit in team batting with a .297 average, which includes games of last Sunday. Los Angeles is sixth with .279, San Diego last with .265.

RULE CAUSES 'SINGTIME' FURORE

Lowry Stooze Has Grief Carrying Pottery; Heard at 7

It goes like this: "When you hear the bell ring, drop everything, and sing!"

Such is the rule inaugurated by Ed (Singing) Lowry, since he and his gang took over the management of the "If-you-need-it-we've-got-it" department store. It is the cause of many complications arising in the second "Singtime" hour to be broadcast by KVOE and Mutual tonight from 7 to 8 o'clock.

For instance, Joe E. Marks had been assigned to the china and pottery department, but he had $93 worth of Haviland china in his arms when the bell rang. Now he's back juggling figures again.

REVENGE OF THE BLINDED CLOCK-MAKER

OURLY, citizens of Prague gathered before the Town Hall tower to watch its clockmaker, Permsan, announce the time. The 12 apostles file in and out of niches, preceding the image of Christ. Death lugs at the bell cord, a clockmaker's bag, a priest gives his blessing, a scholar bows and a rooster crows long and loud. The pageant and other unusual features of the clockmaker's world most remarkable samples. Prague's city fathers, in 1900, when the clock was completed, took pride in the masterpieces and were jealous of it. They would duplicate it in a real city. So, to prevent this, they burned out the artist's eyes.

The blind clockmaker planned revenge. One day he asked a city clerk for permission to visit the clockmaker's workshop. He was granted and a boy led the man to his cherished accomplishment. From beneath his cloak the clockmaker pulled out a sensitive mechanism. The clock stopped. For 400 years it stood still, for he and all Europe could repair the clock. The clock was started again. But a slight error had remained. The marvelous pageant on the clock tower no longer appears exactly on the hour. It is now a legend of the clockmaker of Czechoslovakia showing the Old City Hall Square at Prague.

CITY BEGINS DRIVE TO REMOVE FIRE HAZARD ON VACANT LOTS

NUISANCE OF WEEDS WILL BE ABATED

Work Will Start Next Week; Warning Sent Property Owners

Property owners having been duly warned by the city council, the city will now proceed to remove weeds in vacant lots where they constitute a nuisance and fire hazard.

Last night the council adopted a resolution on motion of Councilman Joseph P. Smith, authorizing abatement of the nuisance created in the city by the presence of the weeds and downy weeds.

5000 Lots Posted

The time for protests regarding the proposed action of the city to rid the town of the noxious weeds was set for last night. City Engineer J. L. McBride had posted 5000 lots in the city with notices to property owners that if they did not clean off the weeds the city would do it. He said last night that work of the city in plowing under the weeds will start within about a week.

Weeds Defined

The weeds are particularly heavy this year because of the heavy rainfall. But one property owner appeared before the council last night to discuss the weed situation. He was M. Meyers, who owns property near Artesia and First streets. He wanted to know if the city designated alfalfa and barley as weeds. He was satisfied when councilmen assured him that they did not.

Church Request Puts City Council 'On Spot'

Two church men unwittingly put the city council on a spot yesterday.

S. T. Borg and R. Allen Anderson addressed a letter to the city council, requesting permission to put circulars in the doors of Santa Ana homes.

They promised not to litter up people's property, and to do the job in a becoming manner to advertise the opening of their tabernacle in the south part of town.

But it developed that the city council has no authority to grant such a request. In fact the city has an ordinance prohibiting the distribution of such handbills.

Councilmen admitted that it is a difficult problem to deal with—that of controlling the distribution of handbills.

When the matter came up at the evening session a motion was passed referring the request to Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns, who now has the problem to cope with.

Coronation Curiosities

By HAROLD S. CORBIN

One of a series of 18 articles explaining some of the novel phases in the coronation of King George VI of England on May 12, and citing historical precedents for them.

ORB WITH CROSS

One of the most important symbols in the coronation of King George VI is the orb with cross. This unique article appears in some of the earlier coronation pictures in manuscripts and tapestries.

What is the significance of the orb and cross? The coronation order of James II, who became king in 1685, directed that cross be brought by the Dean of Westminster "from ye Altar and Received from ye Peer, yt carried it in ye procession, and deliver'd into the Kings Hand by ye Archbishop, saying:

"Receive this Imperial Pall and Orb; and remember, that ye whole World is subject to ye Power, and Empire of God; and yt no Man can reign happily upon Earth, who hath not received his Authority from Heaven."

During the rise of the English commonwealth in 1649 the royal regalia and ornaments used at coronations were taken from the treasury of Westminster and sold or destroyed. Preparing for the coronation of gay Stuart King Charles II, enthroned in 1660 after the fall of Lord Protector Oliver Cromwell, this order was given:

"Whereupon the Master of the Jewell-House had Order to provide two Imperial Crowns set with precious Stones, and one to be called St. Edward's Crown, wherewith the King was to be Crowned, and the other to be put on after his Coronation, before his Majesties returne to Westminster Hall. Also,

"An Orb of Gold with a Crosse set with precious Stones.

"A Scepter with a Crosse set with Precious Stones, called St. Edward's.

"A Scepter with a Dove set with precious Stones.

"A long Scepter, or Staffe of Gold with a Crosse upon the top, and a Pike at the foot of steel, called St. Edward's Staffe."

Other items ordered were: "A ring with a Ruby. A pair of Gold Spurs, A Chalice, and Paten of Gold. An Ampull for the Oyle and a Spoon. And two Ingots of Golde, the one a pound and the other a Marke for the Kings 2 Offerings."

Sue for Rent Of House in Santa Ana

Asking $24 which they allege is due in back rent, and possession of a house at 813 North Flower street, Wilbert L. Bonney and Chester H. Bonney yesterday started suit in Santa Ana justice court against Chandler and Clara Thompson.

The complaint, filed by Attorney Leland S. Kepler, alleges the Bonneys leased the house to the Thompsons in January at $18 a month. Only $30 has been paid, the complaint alleges.

SOIL PROGRAM HEADS NAMED

Following the six community meetings into which the county was divided for purposes of conducting the agricultural conservation program this year, a meeting of the six community chairmen was held for the purpose of organizing the county board of directors.

The chairman of each community committee automatically becomes a member of the county board of directors. J. A. Murdy, Jr., was elected chairman; Walter Pollard, vice chairman; Stephen Griset, member, and Tim Shea alternate member of the county committee, which is the executive committee of the board of directors. Other members of the board of directors are Ed Lang and Clarence McFadden. J. H. Burnett was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the association.

There will be a large participation in the program this year, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, since the number of soil building practices has been increased and the size of the grant allowed increased.

Many growers have not yet signed the form pertaining to their farm, known as form W. R. 2. Unless this is done soon, they will be unable to participate in the program. The closing date for signing has not yet been announced but will be in the very near future. Those who have not signed are requested to call at 302 court house annex, Santa Ana, bringing with them a legal description of their property and the acreage in different crops in 1936.

To Hang Jaysee Fiesta Banners

Permission to hang two banners on the streets to advertise the Santa Ana Junior college tenth annual fiesta, was granted last night by the city council.

A request was made of the county to hang banners across the street at Tenth and Main streets and Broadway and Fourth streets.

The matter was referred to Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns with power to act. Bruns will see that the signs are properly hung. The fiesta will be staged May 14.

Layton to Attend Coast Meeting

Councilman Ernest H. Layton will attend the monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association in the Costa Mesa Woman's clubhouse at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

He was delegated by the city council yesterday afternoon to represent the city at the monthly event. The program scheduled includes a discussion of safety problems, the San Juan Hot Springs project and the first preserve measure.

DONS SELECT NEW RULERS FRIDAY

Primary Election for Fiesta Royalty to Be Tomorrow

Primary elections for Don and Dona of the tenth annual Fiesta at Santa Ana Junior college May 14, will be held tomorrow. Seven men and women students will vie for the offices.

A week of intensive campaigning will be brought to a close tomorrow as the candidates oppose one another at the polls.

Four women and three men are in the running. Women seeking the title of Dona are Margaret Crowell, Lois Mae Stockton, Llewellyn Allen and Henrietta Rurup. Those competing for Don are Allen Tintensor, Paul Christ and Paul Martin.

Clubs Represented

Four of the women's service clubs on the campus are represented by the women candidates. Miss Crowell is a Piloter, Miss Stockton belongs to Las Gitanas, Miss Allen is a Las Meninas member and Miss Rurup is a Moavo.

All but one men's service club is represented by the men nominees. Tintensor belongs to the Bachelors, Christ to Los Gauchos and Martin to the Junior Lions.

To Rule Fiesta

Finals will be held Friday. Charles McIntyre, general chairman of the Fiesta, is in charge of the election.

The couple elected as Don and Dona will act as king and queen of the Fiesta. They will assist Evelyn Chapman, president of the Spinsters, in judging the best woman's costume worn during the celebration. The Spinsters are awarding a prize for the most appropriate costume worn during the Fiesta.

Postal Unit Hears Talk by Crowley

A talk by Robert E. Crowley, Santa Ana attorney, formerly with the federal postal inspection service, featured a meeting of the Orange County Postal Employees association at Laguna Beach Saturday night.

Previous to a program which also included a humorous play called "Three's a Crowd," presented by the Laguna Beach Dramatic club, and piano solos by Miss Lucille Babcock, the group was served a turkey dinner by the American Legion auxiliary and the Laguna post office employees' wives and daughters.

George O. Canfield and Spencer Elliott of the Postal Credit union gave reports on that newly-launched organization, and a vote of thanks was given Mrs. Ada Purpus, postmaster at Laguna, and her associates who acted as hosts.

The association will meet at La Habra in May.

State Gives Road Back to City

One-twentieth of a mile of former state highway system was turned back to the city council last night by the California Highway commission.

The road is a small portion of Santa Clara avenue which the state does not now include in its system since the improvements were made in Grand avenue.

Title to the right-of-way reverted to the city by action of the highway commission in adopting a resolution making the transfer.

Last night the city council granted a request of Robert L. Wilson, National Youth administration supervisor for Orange county, for the NYA boys' band of 40 pieces to play concerts in the parks on Mondays and Thursdays.

The matter was referred to the city auditor, who arranges dates for parks, for a check on the dates.

NEW BOOK IS WRITTEN BY SMEDLEY

Finishes Biography of Henry Martyn Robert, Parliamentarian

Ralph Smedley, founder of Toastmasters International and secretary of Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., is author of another book.

His latest work is "The Man Behind the Rules," a short biography of Henry Martyn Robert, author of "Robert's Rules of Order."

Life of Robert is described in interesting fashion by Smedley, who brings out that the noted parliamentarian has much more to his fame than the book which carries his name.

Robert was chief of the U. S. Army engineers following the Civil war and was the man who conceived and located Galveston harbor on the Gulf of Mexico.

Printed on the mimeograph, "The Man Behind the Rules" is an advance copy of an enlarged and revised edition which may be published later in regular book form, according to the author. Smedley has won national note for two books on public speaking, "The Amateur Chairman" and "Constructive Criticism."

Ban Benches On City's Parkings

There'll be no cement benches on Santa Ana's sidewalks, parks or parkways with advertising on them.

The city council last night turned thumbs down on an application of the Southern California Ornamental Bench and Garden Supply company to place 50 or more of the advertising benches in Santa Ana.

The application was denied on recommendation of the city forestry board, of which A. H. Allen is chairman.

Aircraft Workers' Union both contend they represent a majority of employees in the plant.

Buffet Dinner Party In Leon Dickey Home Compliments Miss Claudia Miller

Sister Feted At Lovely Party

Bridal Motif Carried Out in Decorations And in Prizes

Forthcoming nuptials of her sister, Miss Claudia Miller of Long Beach, proved to be the incentive for a delightful buffet dinner party given last evening by Mrs. L. A. Dickey in her pretty home at 2414 French street. Mrs. Dickey invited a group of out-of-town guests, as well as several of her own Santa Ana friends whom Miss Miller had met casually or brief visits during her college days, and the consequent mingling of mutual friends proved to be most enjoyable.

As guests helped themselves to a delicious dinner course, conversation centered around the elaborate church wedding scheduled for May 15 in Long Beach, at which time Miss Miller is to become the bride of Charles Kolbert. Mrs. Dickey's large table was centered with an intriguing wedding-bell tree in white, flanked by white tapers. Belle of Portugal roses with their soft pink shading made a pleasant and delicate note of contrast to the all-white four-some tables, on each of which stood another taper wrapped with white tulle and lilies of the valley. Miniature brides with trailing tulle veils marked each place, and at the end of an evening of bridge, dainty handkerchiefs wrapped in white, with lilies of the valley tucked beneath their satin ribbons were awarded high scorer at each table, thus completing the bridal motif.

Mrs. Dickey was assisted in receiving and serving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. V. Eaton of San Juan Capistrano, as well as by her mother, Mrs. E. O. Miller of Long Beach. As a final gracious gesture to the pretty bride-to-be, she presented her with an exquisite Chinese linen luncheon set for her trousseau.

Out-of-town guests of Mrs. Dickey included Miss Miller, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Robert Delinger of Torrance, Mrs. John Penn of Eagle Rock, Mrs. Joseph Swallow of Altadena, Mrs. Max Maxwell of Anaheim, Mrs. Frank Grey of Long Beach, Mrs. A. L. Kennedy of Long Beach, Mrs. Gordon Lair of Long Beach, and Mrs. George Dawes of Anaheim.

Santa Ana guests included members of Mrs. Dickey's little club and a few other close friends. These were Mrs. Harvey Gardner, Mrs. Fred Merker, Mrs. Carl Edgar, Mrs. Warren Hilliard, Mrs. J. A. Gajski, Mrs. Frank Hammett, Miss Gertrude Potts, Mrs. Claude Sleeper, Mrs. Walter Geis, Mrs. Christine Faccou, Mrs. Ellis Wagner, Mrs. Bruce Monroe, Mrs. John Cannon, Miss Ellen Selover, Mrs. Guy Grigg, Mrs. Carl Lykko, Mrs. H. P. Lykko, Mrs. John Kinyon, and Mrs. Edward Howard.

Tolerance Is Needed for Young Folk Who Write in Spasm of Rebellion

By MARY STODDARD

Was M. R.'s letter of rebellion just a spasm—an outburst of tired disillusionment, and a flare-up of self pity? That's what an older woman suggests today in an answer to the young wife who longs for fun and frolic, and regrets being tied down to her husband and baby. There may be something in what she says.

PROGRAM AND CARDS FOR DAY NURSERY DAY

Drama review, with Mrs. Edith Cloyes as the reviewer and Maxwell Anderson's "Wings over the World" as the play reviewed—music, with the Thalian quartet as the guest artists—bridge and tea, with hospitality as the keynote. Such are the highlights of plans for Ebbl Day Nursery Day, next Monday, when Ebbl committees will preside at a benefit dessert bridge in the Peacock room to raise money to carry on the nursery work through the summer months.

The music and review will be given in the lounge for those who do not care to play cards, and tea will follow for all. Members of the quartet who will play are Pay Spicer, violin; Anna Mae Archer, cello; Pauline Graef, soprano, and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, general chairman of the party, with Mrs. Carl Klatt in charge of tables, Mrs. Bernice Waynick, prizes; Mrs. T. R. Traywick and Miss Cora Richards, refreshments; and Mrs. John Ball, phone 999, and Mrs. Flagg, 1703, reservations. Mrs. Flagg asks that reservations be turned in and tickets reported on by Saturday night.

CHINESE THEME AT LUNCHEON

A Chinese afternoon was enjoyed yesterday by members of A. B. chapter of P. E. O. who were entertained in the W. L. Grubb home on Edgewood road by Mrs. Grubb, Mrs. John Gowen, and Mrs. Elliott Rowland. A Chinese menu complete to chopsticks was served at the luncheon hour with the assistance of Mrs. Louise Haskell, daughter of Mrs. Grubb, and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, jr., daughter of Mrs. Rowland.

Mrs. Charles Drutt presented a talk on the terrain and habits of China, and Mrs. Haskell, who formerly lived there, discussed its foods and festivities. A pleasant feature, too, was the display of many interesting Chinese articles which Mrs. Grubb has in her home.

HABERS GIVEN FAREWELL

A pleasant farewell dinner party was enjoyed by a group of friends Sunday at Anaheim park, honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Haber, who left yesterday morning for their home in Northfield, Minn. The Habers have spent the past three winters in Santa Ana, and are contemplating living here permanently. Their most recent home was at 1017½ West Third street. Mr. Haber is a brother of Mrs. C. A. Schief of 801 Spurgeon street.

Those extending the farewell courtesy were all former Northfield residents, including Mr. and Mrs. Schief, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McComb, Mr. and Mrs. Bale Tolan, Mrs. Eloise Jones, and E. A. Tolan.

CONTRACT SECTION

Two Preside At Bridal Shower

Miss Marjorie Livesey and Mrs. Neil Parker were co-hostesses last evening at a lovely miscellaneous shower for Miss Virginia Congdon, entertaining at the Livesey home, 906 South Garvey street.

Miss Congdon is to be married April 29 to Jack Livesey, brother of one of the hostesses, and the party was one of the courtesies being extended to the bride-to-be before the nuptial date. The hostesses had arranged beautiful roses and sweet peas in the rooms for the evening of bridge, which resulted in the awarding of high prize to the honored guest.

While the tables were being cleared for the dessert course, the guests were invited to the dining room where gifts for the bride-elect's new home had been heaped in pretty array.

Guests participating in the courtesy were the Misses Daisy Carr, Patty Clark, Lois Newbold, Barbara Doan, Helen Louise and Betty Ely, Thelma Hicks, Isabel Smith, Winifred Normandy, Beverly Weindorf, Nadine Ogden, Ginger Keeler, Bobbie Julian, Dorothy Stovall and Marian Baxter; Mrs. LeRoy Levens, Mrs. Frank Musselman and the honor guest, and two hostesses.

FOREIGN TRAVEL IS LURING MANY RESIDENTS

Summer winds are blowing many Orange county residents to distant countries for sojourns of varying lengths, and each day brings news of more trips, or intended travels.

This last Saturday evening found M. R. and Elliott, Mrs. Freda Brown, daughter of Mrs. Chester Brown of Balboa, and Horace G. Bolton of Riverside drive, all sailing on the Lurline for Honolulu.

Mrs. Chester Brown sailed a few hours earlier aboard the S. S. America for an extended trip around the world. She will meet her daughter next year in Honolulu and both will remain there for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guthrie expect to sail April 25 aboard the Panama Pacific line, California, and will leave the ship at Acapulco for a two-weeks Mexican interval, and then board another ship and continue on to New York.

Mrs. Warren McCarty, Warren, jr., and Margaret will also sail on the California line, California, and will leave for England aboard the S. S. American Banker. They will visit Mrs. McCarty's parents in England until Sept. 1. Mr. McCarty will meet his family upon their return to New York and will drive them back to Santa Ana. All these trips were arranged through the Julia Ann Hyde travel bureau.

Miss Katherine Budd presented a group of her piano students in two recitals over the week-end, giving the program in Long Beach on Saturday afternoon and in her own home studio, 1511 Durant street, Santa Ana, on Sunday.

Long Beach pupils joined with Orange county students in the program, which included the following numbers: "A Pirate Bold," (Stairs) by John Richards; "Valse Triste," (Sibelius), by Allan Thornton; "Water Sprites," (Fletcher), by Phyllis Longfield; "Forest Dawn," (Thompson), by Bobby Pritchard; "Hiawatha's Lullaby," (Ward), by Phyllis Minor; "Swan on a Moonlit Lake," (Rebe), by Lucille Murphy; "Dark Eyes," (Wallis), Marilyn Pritchard; "Zarina," (Anthony), Donald Murphy; "Joy Dance," (Crawford), Doris Jacobs; "Waltz," (Franz Schubert), Frances Becker; "Castanets," (Rebe), by Betty Brown; "To the Rising Sun," (Torjensen), by Marion Blackburn; "Waltz in E Flat," (Durand), by Virginia Thompson.

Refreshments were served at the close of the delightful hour of music furnished by the young artists.

JAYSEE SECRETARY

CHAPTER HOLDS HOMECOMING

Its annual homecoming and birthday party was celebrated yesterday afternoon by G. J. chapter of P. E. O. when it met at the home of Mrs. Wendell Heil. Reunion of members who have moved away with those who have continued in the local organization created a very pleasant atmosphere.

Among those welcomed back at the luncheon were Mrs. Raymond Waggener of Long Beach, Mrs. George King of Sonoma, Mrs. Betty Armore of Alhambra, Mrs. George Ravenkamp of Glendale, Mrs. Robert Marker of Santa Barbara, and Mrs. Alberta Ross of Glendale.

Mrs. Maude Wagner of Placentia, a former state P. E. O. officer, gave a very interesting talk on her recent Mexican journey to conclude the afternoon.

Pastor and Wife Are Honored

The Rev. Mr. George Schmid, pastor of the Evangelical church, and Mrs. Schmid, who were married 35 years ago Saturday in St. Paul, Minn., and who have been Santa Ana residents the past two years, were honored by 300 members of their congregation Friday night at an anniversary dinner in their church hall.

Places of honor were accorded to the two who were celebrating their wedding anniversary, and some of the songs during the program which followed were dedicated to the honored pair.

On the program were piano solos by Marilyn Greenwald and Ruth Greenwald; selections by a ladies' trio, composed of Mrs. Ernest Gammell, Mrs. Herbert Greenwald, and Mrs. Harold Holzgrafe, accompanied by Ruth Greenwald; songs by George Watson, and readings by his daughter, Sally.

A short talk of congratulations was given by the Rev. Mr. A. A. Ehlers of Anaheim, and a gift of a reflector floor lamp was presented to the Schmid by their congregation, Mrs. Clara Juenke making the presentation speech.

Members of the Ladies' Aid society served the dinner at pretty, green-decked tables, marking the places of the two honor guests with a corsage and a boutonniere.

The two were honored again Saturday evening when their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Schmid, entertained at a family affair at their home at 1124 North Olive street, serving a delicious turkey meal on an orchid and yellow table.

Sweet peas, nut cups, and all appointments were in those colors, and places were laid for Mrs. Mary Frey, Mr. Schmid's stepmother, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frey, of Glendale; a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Frey of Los Angeles; the hostess's mother, Mrs. Sarah Kanner, and brother, Mr. Frank Kanner, and the two honor guests, and the host and hostess and children, Stewart and Charlynn.

ALLEMANS FETE SON'S BIRTHDAY

The advent of summer weather made possible a truly delightful out-of-doors party last night when Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allemann entertained a little group of their son Aldon's friends honoring his 19th birthday anniversary.

The invited group to a steak bake which was enjoyed in the pretty garden at the rear of their home, 521 South Parton street. This was climaxed with a colorful birthday cake and the unwrapping of birthday presents, as well as an evening of games indoors.

Your Baby Book

By BETTY COX

Chronicle the happenings of the very younger set this week, we ran across two talented little children of two very talented parents—James Leslie and Donald David Steffensen, the young sons of Leslie and Mary Batten Steffensen.

Though only six and three years old, respectively, the two young men show very evident signs of following right along in the musical and dramatic footsteps of their dad and mother.

Like father, like son, they say; and it certainly looks like it when Donald David and James Leslie raise the curtain on one of their numerous dramatic productions and amaze their elders with bits of acting that stamp them as the sons of their Community Player dad.

And like mother, like son, when James Leslie plays his violin before audiences who acclaim his musical talent and when he graduates at the age of six from the 4-size to the 4½-size violin bow—Mother is a leader in local musical circles, heading the Musical Arts club, contributing her vocal talent to local programs, and recalling busy days as head of the high school music department.

Donald David, who will be four on Sept. 16, thinks he's a musician too, and wants to learn to play the slide trombone.

When not busy with their elaborate theatricals, to which realism is added by the fancy costumes they dig out of the old costume box upstairs, or putting on puppet shows in the little theater Grandfather Elmer Steffensen built for them, they find occupation in the beautiful playhouse in the backyard which was a Christmas gift from the same grandpa.

And then, of course, James Leslie, who will be seven on July 5, goes to school—first grade at Woodrow Wilson school. Little brother pretends he goes too, and seems to get almost as much fun out of books as Jim.

Born in the Upland Community hospital, the Messrs. Steffensen can nevertheless be considered native sons of Santa Ana, for they have spent all their lives here and their dad and mother were here for years before them.

James Leslie is a platinum blond with blue eyes and Donald David has real golden, fiery hair with dark brown eyes—differing in coloring, but otherwise looking very much alike.

When we called the other day, they were having a "pickle picnic" out in their playhouse, having ransacked the family ice box and found lots of delicious pickles, much to their liking.

Besides the grandpa and grandma in Santa Ana, the little boys have two more grandparents over in Claremont, the James Batters, whom they visit frequently.

Their only pets at present are the gold fish in the garden pool in front of their playhouse, and they feed them regularly every day and occasionally surprise both the fish and themselves by a tumble into the water. They had a bunny for a while, but Bunny died.

Three little cousins, the oldest not yet three, are next in line for introductions this week. They are pretty little Constance Markel and Walter, jr., children of the Walter Markels of Santa Ana, and Albert Banks, year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Banks, now residents of Anaheim—and all three are grandchildren of the Clyde Ashens of this city.

Let's take the Markels first, and since Constance is the older we'll start with this little blonde, blue-eyed girl who likes books.

Both she and Walter, jr., in fact are book lovers, and they look at pictures together by the hour, never tearing the magazines but studying every page as they go. Constance's birthday is July 26, Walter's Jan. 21, and he is just past one year old. Walter has the same coloring as Constance, but while his hair is very curly, Constance has a straight blonde bob.

Walter is just beginning to walk around with confidence and he can get into just about anything he wants to. Both he and Constance like dolls and toys, especially wheel things, and they love to play outdoors. The Jules Markels are their other grandparents.

Their little Anaheim cousin, Albert, who will be a year old on May 27, hasn't started walking yet, but he can creep around at a good pace and say lots of new words like bye-bye and dada. Albert has blue eyes and very

Girl Scout Council Feted

Mrs. Paul Bailey, one of three members retiring from the local Girl Scout board this year, entertained the new and old board members Saturday at a buffet luncheon in her home at 311 East Washington.

Tulips and other lovely spring flowers made up bouquets through the rooms and on the table from which the delicious luncheon was served by the hostess with the assistance of her daughter, Miss Helena Bailey.

After luncheon, Mrs. R. C. Harris, the new commissioner, presided over a business session during which organization was effected for the new year and some of the chairmen appointed.

Those answering roll call were Mrs. E. T. McFadden, Mrs. Albert Hickey, Mrs. Lee Smith, Mrs. Howard Scott, Mrs. Herbert Rankin, Mrs. Jack Henderson, Mrs. Harry Edwards, and three new members, Mrs. Ridley Smith, Mrs. R. H. McCalla, and Miss Nora Read, members of this year's council, and Mrs. Ray Snyder, Mrs. Eva Webber and Mrs. Bailey, retiring members.

Mrs. A. W. Rutan, last year's commissioner, who remains as a member of the council, and Mrs. John Scripps and Mrs. George Ames, two other new members, were unable to be present.

SHOWER GIVEN AT BELMONT SHORES

A lovely home at Belmont Shores, its windows looking out over the ocean, formed the setting Saturday for a delightful pre-nuptial party when Miss Thelma King entertained in honor of Mrs. Flora Floy Clark of Santa Ana.

The honored guest, who will be married this month to Gustave Straub of this city, was showered with miscellaneous gifts after the prettily appointed dessert course which started the afternoon's festivities.

During the refreshment hour, the bride-to-be cut a wedding cake which was served to the guests.

Informal games followed, and the prize winners presented their gift awards to the honored guest. Blue delphinium and snapdragons decked the rooms where the following gathered for the charming courtesy.

Mrs. Clark, the guest of honor; Mrs. Minna Straub of Yonkers, N. Y., mother of Mrs. Clark's fiancé; Mrs. Jack Walter, Mrs. Leila Frankheim, Mrs. Donald D. Harwood of Santa Ana; Mrs. Grace Wilder, Mrs. Irma Harris, Mrs. Frances Haas, Los Angeles; Mrs. O. D. King, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Arthur W. Lewis, Orange; Mrs. R. H. Clark, Garden Grove; Miss Joanne Cromwell, Laguna Beach; Mrs. A. L. Oltman, Long Beach; Mrs. Edward Rowntree Lester, Sacramento; Mrs. Rolland Spears, Redlands; Mrs. Joe Babcock, San Bernardino and the hostess.

Welcoming a new little brother this month was little Lorraine Stilling, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Boyd Stilling of 710 Kilson drive, who recently brought home a tiny brother, Frederick LeRoy.

Lorraine is a pretty little blue-eyed blonde, and she surely was excited when she heard about the new baby, who was not allowed to see during the first week because she was just getting over the measles.

Always fond of dolls and of wheeling them around in her little dollbuggy, she is looking forward to the time when she can wheel around her little brother, who was named for his grandfather.

The grandparents of the two children are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick LeRoy Stilling of this city and Mr. and Mrs. G. Brankman of Orange.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Goody! Harbormaster Tommy Bouchee is mad at this department. He, according to reliable reports, is going to get my hide. He's welcome to it!

This started Saturday, when we told of huge runs of spotfin croaker in the bay. Apparently more than the customary two people read the page, because on-lookers estimated that 400 folks were fishing.

Lines, observers said, became tangled in boat propellers, bathing beauties and other fishermen. The harbormaster had himself quite a time handling the unusual rush. Sam Collins, who usually specializes in swordfish, heeded the call, and caught nothing. But he wasn't alone, according to Bouchee, who claims no croaker were caught.

I'm skipping Balboa for a few days!

A little guy whose dad is in the newspaper business, and who is getting quite a start himself, tackled me the other day on the question of publicity.

"Say," he said, "why don't you put something in your paper about our pet show in Placentia?" Then he went into a long explanation about their show, coming up Friday.

Young Cecil Rospaw may end up as a press agent or something, if he keeps on at that rate!

But that pet show really is something to get excited about, at that. I saw it last year, and it was a honey. Just for elementary kids, and they brought everything from the family goat to painted and well-dressed fleas. Dogfights by the dozen, escaped cats and pugilistic geese made the afternoon one of great interest and some danger to spectators.

If you want to have a rip-roaring good time Friday afternoon, take a peek at that show!

It doesn't seem quite right to be warning folks about being careful when swimming in the surf from now on, seeing as I'm not a swimmer myself, but Fire Chief Frank Crocker at Newport says it's time to be careful, so that's that!

The time has come, Fire Chief Frank says, for the usual big swells to start arriving at the beaches, and he doesn't mean rich folks in their yachts, either. These swells will continue through the summer, and will offer nice surfing, but you should watch 'em just a little. They might take you back to sea with 'em.

So he advises to keep one eye on the lifeguard and the other on the swells. If the swells begin to look dangerous, run from one end toward the other. Easy, isn't it? They don't very often roll you over a barrel any more when you're full of water, but it isn't any fun being resuscitated, at that.

In his Huntington Beach paper, Jim Farquhar was moaning last week, wishing that Marcus McCallen, the big gas and oil man, would hurry and move into his new home. Jim, he claimed, was spending most of the time supervising construction of the magnificent mansion.

Now McCallen has moved, and Jim can go back to work!

In a story somewhere around here today, I also note that John Thomas (Socks) Africa, who works for McCallen when he isn't singing or broadcasting or something, also is moving.

I'll bet John hired one of those armored cars to move his lurid footwear!

The old saying "Don't take any wooden nickels" doesn't mean much in Fullerton.

As part of their big Golden Jubilee celebration next month, the committee in charge is "minting" bushel baskets of the wooden mediums of exchange. They're worth a nickel at any store in town, and can be retained as souvenirs or turned into the jubilee headquarters next month for redemption.

The idea will be fine unless some lumberyard counterfeiter pops up!

Comes to mind a tale told the other day by Judge John Landell at Capistrano. Another of his stories of strange duels in the early days of the mission town.

It seems two guys were sort of upset about something. Decided upon a duel at so many paces, with pistols.

One of the fighters, being something of a second hand, couldn't find anything in the rules concerning it, so he dug a trench, and when the time came to do battle, he popped into the delectability and started firing.

The only trouble was he couldn't shoot as well as he could plan, so he missed his opponent. No blood was spilled, and if I remember correctly, the event ended in a local establishment where vino was sold. Everyone was friends and it ended as another of Capistrano's many bloodless battles.

The League of Municipalities meets Thursday evening in La Habra and I can't wait to see who Mayor Boice from Orange picks as his future sparring partner in shin-kicking forays.

I hope he hasn't reformed!

FIVE-YEAR BUILDING PLAN PRESENTED TO H. B. COUNCIL

IMPROVEMENT OF BEACH IS URGED

Big Development Project To Be Discussed By City and Chamber

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Plans for the most spectacular beach development program in the history of Orange county were presented to the city council here last night, when chamber of commerce officials handed their "five-year plan" to the council for consideration. The council will meet Wednesday with chamber officials to discuss the matter.

W. J. Bristol, representing the civic body, told of eight major points of the huge improvement project, which centers around construction of a beach theater and pavilion and purchase of a large portion of ocean frontage now privately-owned.

Program Told

Other points in the program were erection of a beach walk, 15 to 18 feet wide, the entire length of the municipal beach; construction of one or more subways crossing the state highway to the beach; installation of playgrounds for both children and adults and additional stairways to the sand from the bluffs.

In recommending purchase of additional beach frontage, the chamber of commerce urged acquisition of land between Main and Ninth streets and also East of the present beach municipal auto and trailer camp. No figure showing cost of this project was presented.

Ordinance Passes

A new auto trailer ordinance was introduced on first reading. It proposes that trailers shall stop only 15 days in the city anywhere off the streets and cannot make a return visit to the city for 60 days. This does not apply to trailer camps.

Councilman Lee Channess, in a discussion of the "traveling store on wheels" ordinance, which was brought up and passed on second reading, said the traveling stores came into the city in the summer season when the beach business was good and that there should be a high license on them in fairness to the regularly established stores of the city.

H. B. GARDENERS HEAR TALK

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Paul W. Colburn, assistant principal of the Laguna Beach schools, talked on trees and wood before members of the Garden club last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Frost. Colburn demonstrated his talk with samples of wood from many trees and also with articles turned by himself and students in manual arts.

The business section conducted by the president, Mrs. Clarissa Yost, a committee composed of Gay M. Hamilton, Mrs. Betty McCord, Mrs. C. W. Patrick and Mrs. Stella White, was named to meet with the chamber of commerce civic beautification committee to formulate plans for the improvement of Ocean avenue and Main street.

Part of beautification plans include establishment of a promenade along the ocean bluff flanked by a rustic fence from Ninth to First street with lawn, shrubbery and bright colored flowers or flowering moss.

PAIR FETED AT NEW HOME

GARDEN GROVE.—A surprise housewarming party for Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bryan, who recently moved to their new home on Eighth street, was arranged for Friday evening by Mrs. Bryan's friends. The party was held at the new home, which was a two-story bungalow with a large front porch and a few additional friends.

The group arrived at 6:30 bringing food for a supper, after which they presented their hosts with a bedspread. Later bridge was played and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dungan and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Payne awarded score prizes and Mr. and Mrs. A. Elderson the low prize.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beneke, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hein, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schiller, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Payne and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hall, all of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beckley, Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. A. Elderson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dungan, Garden Grove.

Grange Section Meets at Grove

GARDEN GROVE.—Home Economics section members of the Wintersburg Grange gathered at the home of Mrs. C. K. George in Garden Grove for a day of quilting Wednesday and enjoyed a potluck luncheon at noon.

Present were Mesdames Robert Wardlow, Earl Gardner, L. Atkins, Charles Decker, Donald Wardlow and W. A. Brown of Wintersburg. Garden Grove members joining them for the affair were Mesdames Herman Christensen, J. J. Stouffer, W. O. Eades and W. H. Stennett.

MOVE TO COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Langford of Whittier have rented the Harmer home at 521 Bolsa street. Langford is in the employ of the Standard Oil company.

They Lead Western Jews

Federal Judge Harry Holzer (left) of Los Angeles was elected president of the western states region, council of Jewish federations and welfare funds, holding its annual meeting in Portland, Ore. Roscoe C. Nelson (right) of Portland was elected vice president.

BATTLE OF 'BARES' LOOMING Bathing Suit Law Up Again

LAGUNA BEACH.—Setting a new all-time mark for lengthy controversies, the semi-monthly problem of bathing suit ordinances will again come before the city council tomorrow night with several new participants in the battle of the bathers.

Already the Business and Professional Woman's club has come to the front, asking for legislation covering the problem, while a group of 30 persons facetiously called the "Waterfront Association" is opposing action by the council.

The latest to enter the field is rumored to be the Woman's club, with a unanimous resolution opposing any ordinance. This resolution development leads observers to expect a hair-pulling exhibition, with the Woman's club on one side, and the Business and Professional Woman's club on the other, with the unfortunate city council somewhere in between, taking the punishment.

ORANGE.—A unanimous vote opposing repeal of the state criminal syndicalism act was cast Monday noon by members of the local chamber of commerce, when they met in the chamber's rooms, with President Frank H. Collins presiding. The act, it was stated, protects California business.

The proposal to construct an illuminated fountain in the Plaza has been sidetracked by the city council, it was reported to the chamber by Councilman J. E. Riley, as the matter of a sewage disposal plant is at present receiving first attention.

Following reports from merchants better lighting of the business district was favored. The chamber also went on record as supporting the Watson bill to create a fishing preserve along the county's coast.

Decorator Talks To Harbor Club

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Two definite trends in interior decoration are at hand, according to Edgar Harrison Wileman, lecturer and consulting decorator of Los Angeles, in a talk recently before the Ebell club of Newport Beach. These trends he said are a change in colors to Coronation blues, reds, purples and golds, which are best adapted to the darker woods; the second is the California bird colors, of which there are a wide range and not so heavy, red, therefore, best for the lighter woods.

Hostesses were Mesdames R. P. Tilton, Helen Moeller and L. L. Boudinet. A display of rannunculus came from the gardens of Mrs. Tilton and Mrs. E. I. Moore.

SET PUBLIC HEARING FOR LAGUNA SEWER PROJECT

LAGUNA BEACH.—Public hearing for objections to assessments for the newly installed sanitary lateral sewer district No. 2 will be held May 5, according to a notice yesterday from E. H. Beaver, city clerk.

Assessments spread for the new improvement average 50 per cent less than the original engineer's estimate, according to Beaver, as the contractor's bid was considerably less than expected.

The improvement was made possible through a federal grant of 40 per cent totaling $17,271 of the total $41,297 expenditure.

Bids for the proposed repair of the outfall sewer line will be called for April 28, according to Beaver, with the cost estimated at approximately $5000 for the 300 foot line.

WAR VET DIES FROM AXE CUT

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—After serving in the Ninety-first division, and taking part in most of the major encounters during the world war, Frank G. Zoeller met death in a peculiar accident at his home Sunday morning in Nard, Calif., according to his brother-in-law, Charles Schmekel, local nurseryman. Zoeller died from a minor wound, sustained on the hand while cutting kindling.

Zoeller had gone into his yard to cut kindling. The axe slipped and cut a deep gash in the little finger of his left hand. A physician decided the wound must be sewed and started to administer an anesthetic to Zoeller, who died before the anesthetic could be completed. Physicians decided the former member of the Rainbow division, one of the first Americans to go to France, had died of shock.

FUGITIVE BRIDE by RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Three days before Martha Halliday, daughter of a wealthy banker, is to marry Nick Garnett, handsome playboy, she decides he does not love her and runs away in her car, for she knows that he has been trailing a dancer, Nita Lombard, on her tour about the country. Martha, on her way to her aunt's home in Point Heron, is stopped by a State trooper for speeding.

When she later hears that a trooper has been shot to death on the highway, she wonders if it was the same man. She is caught in a storm, runs out of gas, loses her purse, and is forced to take a job as waitress at the Oakville Hotel, popular resort. Meanwhile, Barry Dean, reporter, is on her trail. He hears that police have connected the "girl" in Martha's black and silver roadster with the trooper's murder.

But not! It couldn't be! Why would Martha Halliday, heiress to millions, shoot a State trooper after all in connecting the girl in the black-and-silver roadster with the murder of Jimmy Flynn? As he did so, something fell out—softly struck his shoe. He stared down—suddenly turned cold. It was a State trooper's black gaiter!

SLOWLY, he stooped and picked up the glove. He was filled with a terrible fear. Could it be that the police had been on the right track. After all, in connecting the girl in the black-and-silver roadster with the murder of Jimmy Flynn? But not! It couldn't be! Why would Martha Halliday, heiress to millions, shoot a State trooper after all in connecting the girl in the black-and-silver roadster with the murder of Jimmy Flynn? As he did so, something fell out—softly struck his shoe. He stared down—suddenly turned cold. It was a State trooper's black gaiter!

Nevertheless, he felt that it was important now to find Martha. Picking up the glove and retrieving her purse from the floor of the roadster, he hurried back to his own car.

In a few minutes, he was on his way again, driving through rivers of water that flooded the road as he urged the car on toward Oakville.

When Barry reached the hotel, he drove into the garage.

"Would you check up on this water-soaked buggy and see if it will last a few more miles?" he told the mechanic who came forward to serve him.

Then, just as he was starting for the hotel, with the intention of asking at the desk whether Martha Halliday was registered there or had been here, he paused and decided to ask a few questions here in the garage first.

"By the way," said "was there any girl in here last night or this morning, looking for a car to rent to take her to Point Heron? I'm on the trail of a friend of mine, and I hear that she has a car broke down not far from here. I was wondering if she stopped in here."

"Nope," he said. "Didn't come in here. But say! Did you say Point Heron? That reminds me, the night man did tell me about a girl who came in early this morning, before daybreak, looking for a lift to Point Heron, then suddenly changed her mind and bolted. He said it was very queer. But come to think of it, he said it was one of the hotel waitresses. So that couldn't be the girl you're looking for."

"One of the waitresses?" said Barry. "No."

However, as he turned and left the garage, he was busy speculating. Could that "waitress" have been Martha? After all, she had lost her purse—was stranded. Moreover, she might very likely want to keep her identity hidden if she were running away from her wedding.

There might be another reason, too, why she might want to hide herself. Barry hastily shoved that possibility aside.

Anyway, it might just be that, stranded, she had come here and assumed the role of a waitress for the night. If he had no luck at the hotel desk, he would go to the servants' quarters and at least make inquiries.

Barry peered inside. The hand on the gas gauge told the story. Out of gas! He looked toward the barn and the farmhouse beyond. The place was obviously deserted. Martha must have gone on, struggling through the storm on foot.

He glanced back into the car. Good lord, she had even forgotten her purse! There it was on the floor. He opened the door next to the driver's seat.

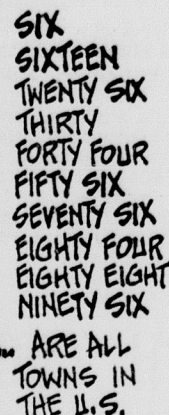

As he did so, something fell out—softly struck his shoe. He stared down—suddenly turned cold. It was a State trooper's black gaiter!

Work or Starve! Why Not?

THERE'S scant sympathy to be found for those WPA and SRA clients who are being kicked off relief because they won't take private work. Instead, Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen are inclined to praise District Manager Charles Fallert of the NRS for his cleanup. Recent WPA strikes, non-relief political scandals and the rumors of chiselers on relief have made the public touchy.

Fallert estimates that about 30 per cent of the men he has offered agricultural work to have turned the jobs down. They don't seem to want to work; they prefer to live at the expense of the taxpayers.

All we have to say about this bunch is that they have overlooked the fact the relief agencies are merely temporary institutions set up to help needy people get private jobs again. They are not for the purpose of making life easy for loafers.

As for the 70 per cent which are taking private jobs as fast as things open up, we have the utmost sympathy and respect. We hope that their example is soon followed by the slackers who are now being kicked off.

This nation won't have real good times again until the masses now on relief get back into enterprises which add something to the national wealth.

The public is willing to help honest, industrious folk along until they can get such work. But it is mighty tired of supporting chiselers and drones.

Take the Profit Out of Snatching

COL. CHARLES LINDBERGH was hounded from the United States by the fear that kidnapers might abduct and murder his second son, and it seems that the same thing may happen to Dr. W. W. Mattson of Tacoma.

The Tacoma physician reveals that his other two children have been threatened by the same fate that last January overtook his youngest son Charles, whose body was found two weeks later after disappearance.

As yet, the kidnap-killer of little Charles has not been found. And there is no definite proof that the Lindbergh case was fully solved with the arrest and execution of Hauptmann.

Despite the excellent record of the G-men on all other abductions, children aren't safe in this nation yet. Why doesn't this country try Canada's method of preventing kidnappings? In Canada, the law forbids payment of ransom to kidnapers. And since the usual motive of kidnapping is ransom, the principal object of the crime is removed. This system works.

Take the profit out of kidnaping and the snatch racket will come to an end.

On Store Closing Hours

MOST sensible is the plan for retailers from all over the Southland to gather soon at Long Beach and discuss uniform store closing hours. Something can be accomplished by unified action, whereas if each community tries to set up its own individual opening and closing time, confusion and disharmony will follow.

There's no reason why Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton stores cannot all observe the same hours as those kept in Riverside, Pomona, San Bernardino and other Southland cities. There may have to be some difference, of course, since some of the communities are big Saturday night towns, but the general outline can be the same.

Merchants more and more are losing their taste for exhausting themselves and their clerks through long hours in business.

The new feeling is that if a man has a home and family and worthwhile social and cultural interests, there are things far better to do after 5:30 in the evening than stand behind a counter.

Time for Judges to Crack Down

UNLESS some of the judges and justices who have been so easy on law-breaking motorists tighten up, they may be in for a rough time at the hands of the voting public; for people are now thoroughly aroused over the increase in highway homicide.

This year to date 23 persons have been killed on Orange county roads. This is worse than last year's disgraceful record. And it shows that recklessness is growing instead of falling off. Hence, the punishment must not be severe enough for the crime.

Judges can do a lot to stop motorcar murder by levying heavy penalties every time the case justifies it. The day is past when an "easy" judge can assure himself of re-election by treating a life and death matter in molly-coddle fashion.

Henry Ford, the Mystery Man

WILL Henry Ford be able to beat the Wagner labor relations act like he walloped the Blue Eagle? This question has half the thinkers of our generation puzzled.

Some say the Detroit wizard will boost his pay to $10 a day and that a majority of his employees then will refuse to join the union, thus invalidating effect in his plants of the Wagner act, which only requires that the employer deal with the representatives of a majority of his workers.

Others believe the Ford force will organize regardless of any pay boost and force Henry to recognize the union. Still others say he will close his factories and retire.

It's our guess that his big pay increase will stave off unionization and defeat the Wagner act penalties. But your guess is as good, and maybe better, than ours.

That boy who demanded $500 from Ginger Rogers to cure his "moody spells," could have had a look at the actress for 30 cents.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Both the stage and screen seem to have been taken over this season by the Wonder Kiddles. The son by the Wonder Kiddles, Shirley Temple, the Spanky McFarlands, the Bobby Breen, the Jane Withers and the Deanna Durbin.

To say a thing is a wonder kid is to say it is a sort of offspring of the Lamb and was proposed by Sidney Lumet, the 12-year-old boy who plays such an important role in "The Eternal Road." They will have a play room and mentor.

Lumet has collected all the current child actors appearing this winter, and the list includes Tommy Cairn, 12, of White House Inn; James McCallion, 16, of But for the Grace of God; Billy Hallop, 16, of Dead End; Claire Howard, 17, in Wings; Victory, and Thauria Bauer, of The Women.

To be eligible for the Ewes membership an actor or actress must have made a Broadway debut before 16.

Edgar Bergen is solely responsible for the amazing revival of ventriloquism, an entertainment so dead that Rudy Vallee in presenting the incomparable Bergen had to explain what a ventriloquist did. A younger generation hadn't the slightest idea. But today the agencies have more calls than they can fill, especially among the night clubs. Marshall Montgomery, once top in the profession, is now booked for eight months straight, after several years of having only a split week or a single night now and then. And the magazines are featuring "those ads: 'Be a Ventriloquist—' Fool Your Friends' Remember!"

New York has a Flea Market on Second avenue, in the 50's, patterned somewhat after the Marche des Puces in Paris, save privately owned. The Paris Flea Market is a motley collection of hawkers who sell everything from discarded hose to Louis XIV furniture. In New York the Flea Market is conducted by a Southern interior decorator who does many of the Guild settings.

Those exciting window displays around town these days are not only astonishing in their simplicity but make the path of the saunterer a gay adventure. Such as a jeweler's window whose exhibit has been foreshadowed by a ship's hull, revealing against a black plush background a single gleaming white pearl. Or a crystal bottle of rare perfume cradled in the thin crescent of a moon with a wisp of coral pink cloud floating by. The artistry is largely the handiwork of the young. One of the most noted prestidigitators is the youthful William Bayard Oakie, Jr. In the strive to attract the passer-by the great emporiums will pay enormous sums. Norman Bel Geddes is reputed to be drawing $1000 a week for his suggestions in a large department store's window display.

The all-night Coffee Pot places are not entirely patronized by pool room loafers, pickpockets, pick-thanks and sundry ruffians of the night. Many are getting what is known by the counter as "the fashionable stay out" trade. That is the top-hatted and emerald swells who remain at the night clubs and private parties until the first pink of dawn. There is something larkish about mounting the counter to get a peek at the customer's plate size. Two of them have as a result of impromptu wit become masters of ceremony in Greenwich Village night clubs.

And a play being readied for Broadway has most of its action in a brightly lit Coffee Pot, easily recognized as one of the 7th avenue favorites.

The best of the night subway drunk stories I think remains that rather venerable one Wilton Lackey used to tell of the stew who got on at Times Square, looked at a passenger, and bellowed: "You are the ugliest person I ever saw."

The insulted gentleman replied, "And you are the most disgusting impolite person I ever saw." The stew weaved a few seconds and then beamed: "Yeah, but I'll be sober in the morning." (Copyright, 1937)

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It might be interesting to keep one eye on the European passenger list to see whether Millard Tydings, Maryland's socialist senator, goes over to view the coronation.

His father-in-law, Joe Davies, U. S. ambassador to Russia, has invited Millard and his new wife to go over as the guest of himself and Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton Davies, the breakfast food heiress.

The Davies' have rented a swanky house in Mayfair, and the Hutton yacht, "Hussar," one of the most luxurious in the world, will be anchored in the Thames.

For Millard, the coronation would be an excellent way out of his present supreme court dilemma. He was one of the first breast-beaters to come out against the President's plan.

Since then he has had a terrific reaction from his Maryland constituents. Those who make a ritual of the Maryland Hunt Club races are for him, but unfortunately they don't have many votes.

On the other hand, organized labor has.

So Millard may find it awfully convenient, to say nothing of enjoyable, to slip over for the coronation of King George. It would save a most embarrassing vote.

BOND SAG

Behind the scenes, some very brisk talk has been addressed to Federal Reserve Chairman Marriner Eccles as a result of the sharp slump in government bonds.

There has been a lot of talk in Wall Street about the mysterious reason for this slump, but there is no mystery about it. It was due primarily to the fact that the federal reserve board ordered an increase of one-third in the cash reserve of member banks, effective May 1.

As a result smaller banks, heavily loaded with government bonds, dumped them on the market in order to meet the board's requirements.

Marriner Eccles was responsible for this increase. He has become much worried over the spectre of inflation, knew that an increase in bank reserves would take money out of speculative fields. He also knew this would bring an easing in bond values, but he expected nothing as drastic as actually occurred.

MORGENTHAU HOWL

Chief pride of Secretary Morgenthau is his maneuvering of government interest rates down to a point where the treasury pays only the same total interest it paid under Hoover, despite the big national debt rolled up by Roosevelt.

Morgenthau has raised a lot of the money in the form of short tern paper, maturing in from one to five years. This means that he has to keep going back into the market to refinance every time an issue matures.

Eight years was where the Eccles policy aimed. As long as government securities were above par, Morgenthau could sell his new issues at low rates. But now Eccles inadvertently had jacked the rate on him.

Morgenthau's howl was behind the action of the federal reserve board in convening its open market committee and going into the market to buy government bonds, thereby bolstering bond prices.

In other words, the reserve board moved to cushion the severe monetary reaction which it, itself, had precipitated.

INFLATION FEAR

Eccles' inflation bugaboo and his fear of a runaway stock market are shared by the President and by Morgenthau himself. They are along with him on his first move to increase bank reserves—which can be done under the banking act of 1935—but only because they figured the reaction in bonds would not be so drastic.

As a result of the whole incident, the administration is pursuing a policy of "watchful waiting" on monetary matters. There are a lot of rumors on Wall Street that Roosevelt will reevaluate the dollar, cut the price of gold, and bar the flood of yellow metal arriving in New York by almost any time.

But inside of it is that for the time being he will do nothing.

ADMIRER

After weeks of man-to-man negotiations, Walter Chrysler thinks John L. Lewis is okay. The motor magnate is telling friends he is ready to do business with the C. I. O. leader any time.

"Lewis is a man of his word," Chrysler says. "I respect and admire him very much."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

There is nothing modest about Dr. Francis E. Townsend. He has issued a call to his followers to "lend" him $5,000 to finance a great campaign to put over his old-age pension scheme. Each subscriber to the fund will receive a personal note from Townsend payable in two years with 4 per cent per annum interest. . . . Rev. W. A. Sullivan, pastor of the First Baptist church of Natchez, Miss., received a letter from Senator (The Man) Bilbo the other day that he will remember a long time. Following Senator Carter Glass' scorching radio attack on the President's court plan, Sullivan wrote Bilbo denouncing him for supporting the proposal. Bilbo retorted with a three-page letter in which he took the hide off both Glass and the preacher. . . . Labor circles are up in arms over a provision in the model state social security bill being distributed to legislatures by the social security board, which would deprive workers of the right to collect unemployment insurance while on strike. A provision similar to this was stricken out of the social security act when before congress, but the board, notwithstanding this action, is recommending to the states that they write such a restriction into their laws. Two states, Pennsylvania and Arizona, not only refused to heed the board's advice but wrote provisions into their social security laws specifically providing that strikers should receive unemployment insurance benefits.

THINGS PASS

This week, as the diarists say, to skimming through a book named Pleasant Days in Spain, written by Nancy Cox-McCormack, a sculptress, whose book is a compilation of letters written to American and European friends at a time when King Alfonso was on his throne and only the first hints were manifest of the dictatorship that bred the tragedy that is Spain's today.

The more of today, rapidly being reduced to a tumbled mass of stone and debris, this author saw as the manifestation of a human development that began in the eighth century before Christ.

Mellowed by centuries, though still austere and to our way of thinking—somewhat cruel, Madrid followed its carefree life heartless ways in 1926, when this book was written.

Last evening I participated in a competition with all the world who gathered, after tradition, around the plaza of the Sun, to swallow 12 carefully prepared grapes, one at a time, whilst the old town

COUNTY PURCHASING

To the Editor: For the benefit of your readers, there are a few points that I would like to make clear to them regarding the policy for purchasing office equipment by the county.

Mr. Lambert, who has been opposing the ruling made by the board of supervisors, has made some very contradictory statements. He has openly stated that if it was a matter of showing favoritism, he would be the one to show it. He was referring to throwing the business to his business associate. At no time did the purchasing department or any of the supervisors make any statement regarding favoring any of the typewriter companies. They have made a thorough check of all the typewriters purchased by the county during the past five years and found that practically every typewriter order went to this one firm. They passed a resolution to divide the typewriter business up equally among the four companies. All typewriters sell for exactly the same price, so it was a very fair resolution. Would you say that this was showing any favoritism to any one company?

Mr. Lambert's next statement was that he favored the typewriter his business associate handled because he had found it the most efficient. Before any person can make such a statement they would have to have something to compare with. It so happens that of the four major typewriter companies—Remington, Royal, Underwood and Smith—the Smith sells by far less machines than any of the others nationally. Surely more than 85 per cent of the typewriter users can't be wrong. To the best of my knowledge, Mr. Lambert has not tried another typewriter in his offices for many years. Now how can he make a statement of this kind unless he has actually made a fair comparison?

There is no such thing as a normal typist saying that she cannot use but one make of typewriter. All schools should give them the proper training on all makes so that when they seek a position they should be able to use any typewriter. Such a statement is just as ridiculous as a supposedly good driver saying he cannot drive but one make of automobile.

Traveled some 40 miles Sunday to view the famous wistaria vine at Sierra Madre. Some one told me it was worth going miles to see so I negotiated the miles from the rear seat and arrived at the place where 43 years ago Mrs. Alice Bragman planted the vine which now covers more than an acre, and has extracted the enthusiasm of more than half a million visitors. It is the mecca for lovers of floriculture, and has become a delightful feature of Southern California life. You will appreciate the Orange county wistaria by getting acquainted with the Sierra Madre product. It is referred to as "an acre of lavender loveliness."

Progress seems to be measured by what the fens do. Her early introduction into life's disturbance blazed the trail in the procession of civilization, and we go away back and sit down just for the purpose of comparison. This thought suggested itself by seeing in the display window of one of job printing shops a poster urging the business men to keep up to date in their office stationery, and offering two illustrations—one of a picture of the fens during those days when fashion decreed that a woman wasn't fully dressed unless she was followed by a monstrous called the bustle. The other an illustration of the modern streamlined girl. Just a casual optical inventory is all you need to arrive at a preference.

Whenever I observe one of those masculine formations whose roundness suggests the quicker way to get up town would be to roll instead of walk, I wonder what sinister influence retarded the normal development of us that we were entitled to. Somehow or other I am unable to resist indulging in a few reflections every time one of those super-ponderous structures pushes the display window up to a cafe and takes a heavy percentage of it on the table. Usually there accompanies a gargantuan appetite to sustain it. I presume it is natural for some people to be large and others to be small. I can speak for the diminutive part of the argument. Nor do I condemn those of more extensive proportions. At the same time I cannot exclude the thought that I have been neglected.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Travelled some 40 miles Sunday to view the famous wistaria vine at Sierra Madre. Some one told me it was worth going miles to see so I negotiated the miles from the rear seat and arrived at the place where 43 years ago Mrs. Alice Bragman planted the vine which now covers more than an acre, and has extracted the enthusiasm of more than half a million visitors. It is the mecca for lovers of floriculture, and has become a delightful feature of Southern California life. You will appreciate the Orange county wistaria by getting acquainted with the Sierra Madre product. It is referred to as "an acre of lavender loveliness."

There isn't any joy in this item, but there is some information. Tuesday, April 20, is the deadline for payment of last half of taxes. Tomorrow I expect to be delayed and hear this: "Someone is always taking the joy out of life."

Communication from Howard Irwin re: robins, larks, New Dealers and Republicans, all because this department carried a paragraph about his ornithological habits. He insists he has other accomplishments so I shall go over and give him the third degree, but not until the lunch has been bought and paid for at his expense.

Jim Sleeper keeps asking me about Byron Currey's health, without saying which side he's on.

When some manufacturer builds an automobile which will not violate the law I shall be interested. Now if you drive too fast you can be arrested for speeding, if you drive too slow you get bawled out, and if you stay too long in one place you get a ticket.

Vacant lots are being cultivated and set out to gardens. They present a much more inviting appearance both to man and fowl.

Progress seems to be measured by what the fens do. Her early introduction into life's disturbance blazed the trail in the procession of civilization, and we go away back and sit down just for the purpose of comparison. This thought suggested itself by seeing in the display window of one of job printing shops a poster urging the business men to keep up to date in their office stationery, and offering two illustrations—one of a picture of the fens during those days when fashion decreed that a woman wasn't fully dressed unless she was followed by a monstrous called the bustle. The other an illustration of the modern streamlined girl. Just a casual optical inventory is all you need to arrive at a preference.

I do not know whether J. Albert Dennis is going wild game hunting or not, but he is wearing a Frank Buck hat.

Read an announcement a few days ago about the "packing houses" raising the wages of pickers. Now just between you and I, who furnishes the money for the increased payment? Is it the "packing houses" or the orange growers? When I read so much about what the associations and packing houses and allied organizations are doing it occurs to me that a moral of credit should go to the men who put their money in the industry.

Passing the Shell-Mathis well at Ball Road and 101 Highway I couldn't help but notice one man at work. He was about half way up the derrick. So I know there is that much doing.

A New York hotel boasts of having the largest bar in the world. Maybe so. The largest bar I ever saw was in a small country town near Sioux City and the authorities closed it. Under the new free-for-all system longer bars may not be necessary, but they do accommodate more people.

"Suppose we quit talking so much about the officers failing to enforce the law, and more about our failure to obey."

Whenever I observe one of those masculine formations whose roundness suggests the quicker way to get up town would be to roll instead of walk, I wonder what sinister influence retarded the normal development of us that we were entitled to. Somehow or other I am unable to resist indulging in a few reflections every time one of those super-ponderous structures pushes the display window up to a cafe and takes a heavy percentage of it on the table. Usually there accompanies a gargantuan appetite to sustain it. I presume it is natural for some people to be large and others to be small. I can speak for the diminutive part of the argument. Nor do I condemn those of more extensive proportions. At the same time I cannot exclude the thought that I have been neglected.
